Weil's documentary prose poem Lamentation for 77 297 Victims is a literary monument to the Czech Jews killed during the Holocaust. A remarkable Czech Jewish writer who worked at Prague's Jewish Museum during the Nazi Occupation and after he survived the Holocaust by faking his own death, Weil wrote his Lamentation while he served as the museum's senior librarian in the 1950s. Remarkable literary experiment opening new ways how to write about the undescrivable combines a narrative of the Shoah, newspaper style accounts of individual lives destroyed by the Holocaust, and quotes from the Tanakh, each having a specific and powerful effect.

In this collection of writings produced between 2000 and 2018, the pioneering literary historian of the Czech underground, Martin Machovec, examines the multifarious nature of the underground phenomenon. After devoting considerable attention to the circle surrounding the band The Plastic People of the Universe and their manager, the poet Ivan M. Jirous, Machovec turns outward to examine the broader concept of the underground, comparing the Czech incarnation not only with the movements of its Central and Eastern European neighbors, but also with those in the world at large. In one essay, he reflects on the so-called P lnoc Editions, which published illegal texts in the darkest days of the late forties and early fifties. In other essays, Machovec examines the relationship between illegal texts published at home (samizdat) and those smuggled out to be published abroad (tamizdat), as well as the range of literature that can be classified as samizdat, drawing attention to movements frequently overlooked by literary critics. In his final, previously unpublished essay, Machovec examines Jirous's Report on the Third Czech Musical Revival, not as a merely historical document, but as literature itself.

The Lesser Histories Jan Zabrana, 2022-06-01. From the eighth floor of a tower block in Central Europe, Jan Zabrana surveyed the twentieth century. He had been exiled from his own life by Communism. His parents were imprisoned, their health broken, and he was not allowed to study languages in college. Refusing both to rebel outright or to cave in, he thought of himself as a dead man walking. To all those who keep asking me to do things for them, I sometimes feel like saying, "But I'm dead. I died long ago. Why do you keep treating me as if I were one of the living?" Yet during some of Europe's most difficult years, he wrote The Lesser Histories, a collection of sixty-four sonnets that range through themes of age, sex, and political repression, a radiant testament to his times. The lines are emptied both of personal pathos and political stridency.

Often Zbrana's own voice segues into those of poets he had translated over the years leaving only a bare shimmer of subjectivity humorous oblique pained with which to view his own works and days The poems document a splendid and bitter isolation and are immersed in the humor hatreds and loves of the everyday Published in Czech in the ill fated year of 1968 they subsequently fell into neglect After the fall of Communism in 1989 Zbrana's collected poems and selected diaries were published in Czech and he was acclaimed as a major twentieth century writer Now with this collection he can begin to reach English language readers for the first time

Chitnis, 2007 This is the first major analytical study in English of the work of the leading Czech Avant garde novelist and dramatist Vladislav Vancura often regarded as the greatest exponent of the Czech language in prose In the study Vancura's paradoxical attitude to contradictions which he seeks simultaneously to overcome and to preserve is used as a key to understanding his writing and its often ambivalent critical reception His major works are considered in the context of art and medicine Poetism and Proletarian art Bergson and Marx collectivism and non conformism judgement and forgiveness and the Renaissance and modern human being The author seeks thus to place Vancura at the heart of Czech literature's preoccupations and aspirations in the inter war period
