

Module 1 – Drawing Set Organization

1.1 SHEET IDENTIFICATION

The sheet identification format typically used in traditional construction drawing techniques, however, the electrical systems methods, including drafting, and software distributed systems necessary to creating and organizing sheets. These techniques have also provided an opportunity to expand the use of the sheet identifier. Accordingly, the sheet identification format is a key part of V8i®.

1.1.1 Standard Sheet Identification

The sheet identification format is applicable to both manual and CAD drawings/production. It is consistent, yet flexible enough for a wide range of project types. The V8i sheet identification format standard uses consistent, but following components:

- The Discipline Designator – consisting of one alphanumeric character and a hyphen or two alphanumeric characters.
- The Sheet Type Designator – consisting of one numerical character.
- The Sheet Sequence Number – consisting of two numerical characters.

The use of the discipline designator identifies the sheet as a member of a project. A sheet type designator identifies the type information on the sheet is followed by the sheet sequence number.

Reserving the code values in project integrity, V8i allows flexibility of sheet identification. Below are some of the combinations of the sheet codes used to suit the project or the practitioners of the drawings. Level 1 offers the simplest guidelines format and could be suitable for all but the most complex projects. Level 2 provides guidance for complex or special types of projects. Refer to V8i Appendix A – Discipline Designator, V8i Appendix B – Sheet Type Designator for examples of the two levels of sheet identification.

Note that the hyphen in the Level 1 discipline designator is a required sheet hyphen in the presence of the second character. The hyphen is optional rather than a required part due to the use of the “00” combination to represent “discipline” as understood for project specific. The hyphen when appropriate separating content does not affect hyphenation to names.

1.1.2 Discipline Designator

The first component of the sheet identification format, the discipline designator, is based on the building system or architectural discipline designators, using either a single alphanumeric character and a hyphen or two to an alphanumeric character (level 2).

The discipline designator denotes the category of subject matter contained on the sheet or on the type designated. It starts always
