Machine Learning Sergios Theodoridis, 2015-04-02

This tutorial text gives a unifying perspective on machine learning by covering both probabilistic and deterministic approaches which are based on optimization techniques together with the Bayesian inference approach whose essence lies in the use of a hierarchy of probabilistic models. The book presents the major machine learning methods as they have been developed in different disciplines such as statistics, statistical and adaptive signal processing, and computer science. Focusing on the physical reasoning behind the mathematics, all the various methods and techniques are explained in depth, supported by examples and problems, giving an invaluable resource to the student and researcher for understanding and applying machine learning concepts. The book builds carefully from the basic classical methods to the most recent trends, with chapters written to be as self-contained as possible, making the text suitable for different courses: pattern recognition, statistical adaptive signal processing, statistical Bayesian learning, as well as short courses on sparse modeling, deep learning, and probabilistic graphical models. All major classical techniques: Mean Least Squares regression and filtering, Kalman filtering, stochastic approximation, and online learning; Bayesian classification, decision trees, logistic regression, and boosting methods. The latest trends: Sparsity, convex analysis and optimization, online distributed algorithms, learning in RKH spaces, Bayesian inference, graphical and hidden Markov models, particle filtering, deep learning, dictionary learning, and latent variables modeling. Case studies: protein folding prediction, optical character recognition, text authorship identification, fMRI data analysis, change point
