

Module 1 – Drawing Set Organization

1.1 SHEET IDENTIFICATION

The sheet identification format typically used in traditional construction drawing sets includes, however, the electrical systems methods, number drafting, and different distributed view convention to identify and organize sheets. These techniques have also provided an opportunity to expand the use of the sheet identifier. Accordingly, the sheet identification format is a key part of V5.0.

1.1.1 Standard Sheet Identification

The sheet identification format is applicable to both manual and CAD drawings/production. It is consistent with standards established for a wide range of project types. The V5.0 sheet identification format standard uses consistent the following components:

- The discipline designator – consisting of one alphabetical character and a hyphen or two alphabetical characters.
- The sheet type designator – consisting of one numerical character.
- The sheet sequence number – consisting of two numerical characters.

The use of the discipline designator identifies the sheet as a member of a project. A sheet type designator identifies the type information on the sheet is followed by the sheet sequence number.

Regarding the use of sheet sequence numbers, V5.0 allows two levels of sheet identification. Below is a list of a combination of the sheet numbers used to suit the content of the disciplines of the drawings. Level 1 offers the simplest sheet numbering format and would be suitable for all but the most complex projects. Level 2 provides guidance for complex or special types of projects. Refer to V5.0 Appendix A – Discipline Designators, V5.0 Appendix B for examples of the two levels of sheet identification.

Note that the hyphen in the Level 1 discipline designator is to facilitate sheet sorting by the presence of the second character. The hyphen is preferred rather than an electrical zero as is the case of the “00” substructure file names. Accordingly, an implementation for Level 1 would be to replace the hyphen with a zero for all sheet numbers in the name.

1.1.2 Discipline Designator

The first component of the sheet identification format, the discipline designator, is based on the building system or architectural discipline designators, using either a single alphabetical character and a hyphen or two to an two alphabetical characters (Level 2).

The discipline designator denotes the category of subject matter contained on the sheet or on the type designated. It must appear:
