Document 1

Groups seeking colonies, as described by Parker T. Moon, include people who made cotton and iron goods looking for new places to sell and resources to use, ship owners wanting safe spots for their ships to refuel and stay secure, and folks making weapons, uniforms, and things for railways and telegraphs, who saw it as a business opportunity to supply colonial governments. Also, bankers were keen on lending money to colonies for building things like railways and growing their economies. Each group had its own reasons for wanting colonies, whether it was about business, safety, or financial gains.

Document 2

Senator Beveridge believed that America should become imperialistic because American factories were producing more goods than the American people needed, and American soil was producing more food than they could eat. He thought it was fate's way of telling America that it should expand and take control of global trade to sell its excess products. Becoming imperialistic would allow the United States to establish trading posts all over the world and spread American products, increasing their reach and prosperity.

Document 3

This document says that the cause for imperialism was motivated by the quest for capital profits which originated in political ambitions.

Document 4

He believes that it is their duty as the Anglo-Saxon race to continue imperialism.

Document 5

One of the key reasons for this new wave of imperialism was the influence of evolutionary teaching, specifically the concept of the "survival of the fittest."

Document 6

Kipling is addressing the idea of imperialism and the moral duty of the white, European, and American powers to take control of and govern other non-European nations. He refers to this duty as "the white man's burden."
