workbook to complete their articles A new chapter addresses scholars who are writing from scratch This edition also includes more targeted exercises and checklists as well as the latest research on productivity and scholarly writing Writing Your Journal Article in Twelve Weeks is the only reference to combine expert guidance with a step by step workbook Each week readers learn a feature of strong articles and work on revising theirs accordingly Every day is mapped out taking the guesswork and worry out of writing There are tasks templates and reminders At the end of twelve weeks graduate students recent PhDs postdoctoral fellows adjunct instructors junior faculty and international faculty will feel confident they know the rules of academic publishing and have the tools they need to succeed

Writing the Research Paper Anthony C. Winkler, Jo Ray McCuen, 1999 Writing the Research Paper is an easily accessible research paper guide that can be used by students throughout their college career and beyond

Computers and the Teaching of Writing in American Higher Education, 1979-1994 Gail E. Hawisher, 1996 This book is a history composed of histories Its particular focus is the way in which computers entered and changed the field of composition studies a field that defines itself both as a research community and as a community of teachers This may have a somewhat sinister suggestion that technology alone has agency but this history made of histories is not principally about computers It is about people the teachers and scholars who have adapted the computer to their personal and professional purposes From the authors perspectives change in technology drives changes in the ways we live and work and we agents to a degree in control of our own lives use technology to achieve our human purposes

REVIEW This book reminds those of us now using computers to teach writing where we have been and it brings those who are just entering the field up to date More important it will inform administrators curriculum specialists and others responsible for implementing the future uses of technology in writing instruction

Computers and Composition Conference Record, 2004
