The Olympic Games are the world's oldest multisporting event. They started in 776 B.C. in a place called Olympia in Greece. The games stopped in A.D. 393, but started again in 1896.

The Ancient Olympics

According to stories, King Ifitos of Elis in Greece started the games as a way to stop the fighting among Greek kingdoms. Instead of fighting, the warriors competed the sporting events. There were about 20 events and only Greek men could join. It cost a lot of money to train for and travel to the games. Winners received a crown of olive leaves and often had poems written or statues made in their honor.

The Modern Olympics

A French named Pierre de Coubertin organized the first modern Olympic Games. He wanted to promote sports and thought it would be better for young men to compete than fight. The first games were held in Athens in 1896 and had 245 participants from 15 nations. At the time it was the biggest international sporting event. The recent games in Athens involved 11,100 participants from 202 countries.

The modern Olympic Games are held every four years. These are divided into Summer and Winter Games, which are held two years apart. Winners get a gold, silver and bronze medal.

achievement during the period from 1970 to 1984 this report draws from national assessments that involved more than 250 000 9 13 and 17 year old students from a wide range of socioeconomic backgrounds The first chapter 1 provides an overview of the report 2 summarizes recent achievements documented by the surveys including improvements in reading made by Black Hispanic and disadvantaged students 3 lists areas in which more improvement is needed and 4 cites other trends revealed by the data The findings include 1 the reading proficiency of males has trailed that of females in all four reading assessments 2 the gaps between the regions of the country have narrowed considerably due primarily to improvements in the Southeastern region except for that region s 9 year olds 3 the influence of home environment is apparent in that students from homes with an abundance of reading materials are substantially better readers than those with few materials available and students whose parents have post high school education read substantially better than those whose parents have not graduated from high school 4 six or more hours of TV viewing per day is consistently and strongly related to lower reading proficiency and 5 students who receive homework and do it tend to read better than students who do not have homework or do not do it The major portion of the second chapter offers brief descriptions of the five levels of proficiency defined by the reading tasks used in the surveys and gives data showing the number of students in each age group who attained each level
The third chapter examines the data to discover exactly who has been improving providing figures for Black Hispanic and White students for males and females and for students in different types of communities and in different regions The fourth chapter looks at influences on reading proficiency including parents level of education reading materials in the home the effects of television and homework Appendixes contain descriptions of procedures used in the National Assessment of
