

CHAPTER 5: RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

5.1 INTRODUCTION

In Chapter One an orientation of the research was provided. This study focuses on the needs and competencies of school sport managers. These are required for the sport management training of educators, in accordance with the diverse needs of South African schools (cf. par. 1.3.2, p. 12). As a result of the problem statement referred to in Chapter One, the all-encompassing aim of this study is to develop a sport management programme for educator training. It is essential to analyse the existing knowledge, as a background to the current study. In this way, the researcher endeavours to generate new knowledge, which could make sport management and educator training more purposeful, efficient and sustainable. Consequently, this chapter strives to operationalise the theme of the research design and methodology in the current study, as well as to substantiate the choices made in the study.

The research design is applied so that suitable research methods are used to ensure the attainment of the goals and objectives set out in Chapter One. Hence the reason (rationale) for a discussion of the research design and methodology: Firstly, this is to provide the plan or blueprint for the research. Secondly, this should enable the researcher to anticipate the appropriate research design, to ensure the validity of the final results. Nevertheless, it is important that different views are analysed; thereafter, the methodology will be discussed. However, first it is important to consider a theoretical framework for the research design.

5.2 THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK FOR THE RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

One of the challenges facing the researcher is the difficulty in relating to and understanding the role and importance of theory in research. Consequently, the concept of theory necessitates some clarification. In this regard, Verma and Mallick (1999:6) as well as Blumberg, Cooper and Schindler (2011:36) are of the opinion that the main role of theory is to help to guide the researcher. In the social sciences, it usually implies a set of statements describing and explaining the relationship between human behaviour and the factors that affect or explain it. Paraphrasing Best and Khan (2006:10), a theory could best be described as an attempt to develop a general explanation for some phenomenon. More specifically, a theory, according to these authors, defines non-observable constructs that are inferred from observable facts and events, and are thought to have an effect on the phenomenon under study. It further implies that a theory describes the relationship among key variables for explaining a current state or predicting future concurrences.

The Development of Past Tense Morphology in L2 Spanish M. Rafael Salaberry, 2001-02-12 This book presents an extended analysis of the development of L2 Spanish past tense morphology among L1 English speaking learners The study addresses three major questions 1 what is the developmental pattern of acquisition of past tense verbal morphology among tutored learners 2 what are the relevant factors that may account for the particular distribution of morphological endings especially at the beginning stages and 3 how does instruction affect the movement from one stage to the next The analysis provides a reassessment of the general claim of Andersen s lexical aspect hypothesis and proposes minor changes that may render the hypothesis more appropriate for especially L2 classroom learning The study includes an overview of theoretical positions on the notion of lexical versus grammatical aspect and a comparison of the findings from previous empirical studies on the development of past tense verbal morphology among both classroom and naturalistic learners

LEADERSHIP AND ORGANISATIONAL PERFORMANCE
Dr. Godwin C. Arikibe, 1901 Leadership is inherent in every being despite one's job profile. But qualitative training and other traits are very important for the right behaviours. Every follower possesses attributes of a leader but because these are somewhat concealed to lead effectively becomes a huge challenge to many. This book is a result of many years of research. It focused on discovering those behavioural attributes that could combine effectively with the leader's competing roles to enhance his performance. A Competing Value Framework (CVF) was applied to understand the leadership behaviours characteristics, attributes and roles that could influence a leader even in the face of contingency factors. The result was quite revealing. Leaders that combine their roles with other attributes, skills, achieve behavioural complexity which are performance enhancing behaviours. Furthermore, leaders are distinguished by their unique mental attitude, particularly in four roles they play: motivation, vision, analytic, and task master roles. Combination of these with other attributes and characteristics enhances the leadership complexity. This book is a useful material for those in the ministries, academia, and organisations of different sizes. It's a book every leader must possess to comprehend the behavioural complexities relevant for organisational performance.
