

CHAPTER 5: RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

5.1 INTRODUCTION

In Chapter One an orientation of the research was provided. This study focuses on the needs and competencies of school sport managers. These are required for the sport management training of educators, in accordance with the diverse needs of South African schools (cf. par. 1.3.2, p. 12). As a result of the problem statement referred to in Chapter One, the all-encompassing aim of this study is to develop a sport management programme for educator training. It is essential to analyse the existing knowledge, as a background to the current study. In this way, the researcher endeavours to generate new knowledge, which could make sport management and educator training more purposeful, efficient and sustainable. Consequently, this chapter strives to operationalise the theme of the research design and methodology in the current study, as well as to substantiate the choices made in the study.

The research design is applied so that suitable research methods are used to ensure the attainment of the goals and objectives set out in Chapter One. Hence the reason (rationale) for a discussion of the research design and methodology: Firstly, this is to provide the plan or blueprint for the research. Secondly, this should enable the researcher to anticipate the appropriate research design, to ensure the validity of the final results. Nevertheless, it is important that different views are analysed; thereafter, the methodology will be discussed. However, first it is important to consider a theoretical framework for the research design.

5.2 THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK FOR THE RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

One of the challenges facing the researcher is the difficulty in relating to and understanding the role and importance of theory in research. Consequently, the concept of theory necessitates some clarification. In this regard, Verma and Malick (1999:6) as well as Blumberg, Cooper and Schindler (2011:36) are of the opinion that the main role of theory is to help to guide the researcher. In the social sciences, it usually implies a set of statements describing and explaining the relationship between human behaviour and the factors that affect or explain it. Paraphrasing Best and Khan (2006:10), a theory could best be described as an attempt to develop a general explanation for some phenomenon. More specifically, a theory, according to these authors, defines non-observable constructs that are inferred from observable facts and events, and are thought to have an effect on the phenomenon under study. It further implies that a theory describes the relationship among key variables for explaining a current state or predicting future concurrences.

Development of a new competence and behaviour model for skills in working with people for project managers Eddie Fisher, 2008-06-10 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2006 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance The Open University Open University Milton Keynes United Kingdom language English abstract The growing penetration of projects as a way of organising work in many organisations has created a shortcoming between what companies expect in terms of project delivery and the way in which their project managers execute projects The constantly changing demands have created a need for project managers to manage the people in their projects more effectively to meet these expectations A review of the general and project management literature has revealed that a shortcoming exists and the nature of this shortcoming What used to be appropriate skills in working with people are no longer adequate now that working practices are changing in response to increases in pressures to achieve better results This thesis has developed a competence and behaviour model for skills in working with people for project managers that provides the means to fill the shortcoming The exploration to develop this model has taken place mainly through interviews with project managers from the community of practice in United Kingdom organisations supplemented by the participatory research observations of the researcher as a practising project management professional The research focus was on the impact humans make in the activities of project management within a socially constructed world The research considered competences and behaviours of skills in working with people for project managers and therefore had to deal with the meaning that people put on their observations As a consequence their descriptions have been collected analysed and interpreted by applying a constructivist interpretivist approach within a phenomenological research paradigm The results from this study are of interest to both academics and the community of practice in project management The new competence and behaviour model of skills in working with people for project managers can be incorporated in future editions of bodies of knowledge such as those promoted by the PMI APM or IPMA and other people competence models in the area of general management

Optimum Capital Structure Lutfa Ferdous,2019-05-23 Thesis M A from the year 2009 in the subject Business economics Economic Policy grade M B A University of Dhaka course Master of Finance language English abstract Capital structure is one of the most converse and vital issues both in finance literature and practical research This research deals with the theoretical and empirical aspects of capital structure decision It is observed that the determination of debt ratio is subtle and sophisticated to determine and its estimation is still a matter of debate and yet there is no entirely satisfactory theoretical model for forecasting the optimal debt ratio in the firm s capital structure There is little consensus on how firms choose their capital structure and how the firm specific factors influence the shape of the capital structure This research develops a link between theory and practice of capital structure This study has supported a set of sample firms to show the impact of six factors determinants on the financial leverage and how they comply with the findings derived by different previous theories regarding these factors Least Square method has been used to assess the influence of defined explanatory variables on the capital structure by using the dataset of Bangladeshi manufacturing firms for the period 2000 to 2004 Out of Six examined explanatory variables agency equity agency debt Bankruptcy profitability are statistically significant determinants of financial leverage Otherwise growth rate and operating leverage are found to be insignificant Agency equity agency debt bankruptcy operating leverage profitability growth rate all these are showing a negative relation with the dependent variable Also this paper suggests that the institutional context and macroeconomic events play an essential role in the capital structure decisions of Bangladeshi companies It would seem appropriate that further research should focus on the role played by the institutional framework such as the impact of taxation the practice of good corporate governance legal and regulatory structure

The Role of Faith Based Therapy in Treating Depression in African Americans Jacquelyn Claude,2019-04-25 Master s Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Psychology Consulting and Therapy grade A Walden University Public Health language English abstract The purpose of this critical literature review study is to review the existing research related to faith based counseling and its specific use for treating depression symptoms among African American adults Forty seven peer reviewed articles from the professional literature were selected for review based on relevance to African Americans and faith based organizations Results of the review indicated the need to critically evaluate efficacy of faith based programs based on scientifically determined outcomes The implications for positive social change include increased access to affordable healthcare in a trusting environment decreased prevalence rates for depression in African Americans and reduction in disparities in mental healthcare delivery Current research has indicated that there are disparities in mental healthcare treatment that are affecting African Americans

The literature has not strongly supported the use of spiritual leaders as counselors primarily because of a lack of certification in mental health counseling among clergy. However, the literature has shown that religious faith can have a positive effect on quality of life.

The Specification of Street Lighting Needs. Final Report V. Gallagher, 1975 Risk Management and the Rate of Project Success within Multi-Projects Environment Emmanuel Ezeoke, 2016-02-03 Master's Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Miscellaneous grade 1 5 course MSc Project management language English abstract

This research has the intention to examine risk management in a multi-project environment with the aim of finding out how organizations do their risk implementations and if the implementation of risk processes within participant organizations has any impact on the rate of project success within a multi-project environment. As found in most literatures, project risk management has concentrated more on single standalone projects as opposed to managing project risk as a portfolio where lessons learned from one project could be of benefit to another project within the same project environment. As risk management in projects has evolved over the recent decades as an integral part of project management, in recent times it has gained tremendous attention within the industrial sector because of an increased awareness about the relationship between efforts to reduce risk and project success. Within the academic community, there is the existence of a gap in literatures regarding risk management in multiple project environments and for the fact that the research that has been performed within the academic community has largely focused on the idea of risk management occurring in single project environments, the research will be aimed at how risk management is implemented within the organizations that will be examined in order to draw up a conclusion if risk is better managed at a single project level or at a multi-project level.
