Bridging Computation, Biophysics, Medicine, and Engineering in Neural Circuits Haruyuki Kamiya, Jordi Soriano-Fradera, Hideaki Yamamoto, Shigeo Sato, Toshiaki Omori, 2026-03-19 Neural circuits in the brain are highly sophisticated biological systems orchestrating ultra fast parallel computations that integrate sensory inputs motor outputs and internal memory processes Notably biological neural circuits can process signals extremely efficiently with far less energy consumption compared to conventional digital computing Unraveling the mechanisms behind this energy efficient computation is a highly compelling frontier in neuroscience research This Research Topic aims to foster a multidisciplinary dialogue that bridges gaps and catalyzes collaborations among neuroscientists from diverse fields We seek to facilitate a mutual understanding between in silico in vitro and in vivo researchers overcoming the historical barriers posed by limited information exchange Contributions are invited across a spectrum of disciplines including computational neuroscience biophysics neurophysiology materials science neuromorphic hardware bioengineering and medicine Our focus extends to the multifaceted analysis of multicellular computation within neural networks We encourage submissions that leverage mathematical modeling to dissect these complex interactions as well as those that contribute to the evolution of advanced brain inspired computing systems This includes research utilizing both analog and digital hardware supported by innovative materials science and the design of cultured neuronal networks with specified geometries and complexities We welcome submissions from researchers dedicated to advancing computational models and devices that emulate multiple functional aspects of brain function drawing inspiration from neurobiological principles Additionally this collection encompasses research aimed at understanding and manipulating neural circuits in both physiological and pathological states offering insights into the neural basis of health and disease In this interdisciplinary endeavor we aspire to push the boundaries of our understanding of neural circuitry paving the way for the next generation of computational models and technologies that mirror the brain s unparalleled capabilities

The Science and Spirituality of Addiction Stuart Morse, 2026-01-28

The Science and Spirituality of Addiction bridges the gap between the laboratory and the human spirit offering a compassionate yet scientifically grounded guide to recovery Integrating neuroscience psychology and spirituality it reveals how addiction arises not from moral failure but from a complex interaction of neurochemical reward systems emotional wounds and existential disconnection Drawing equally on empirical research and lived experience this book maps the terrain of recovery as both a physiological recalibration and a spiritual reintegration It explores how ancient traditions modern psychology and post modern insight converge to form a comprehensive understanding of human healing Readers will discover how dopamine trauma and conditioning shape compulsive behavior and how awareness compassion and connection can transform it Written for those who seek clarity and practical tools as much as hope The Science and Spirituality of Addiction speaks to professionals thinkers and seekers alike

By uniting science and soul it invites readers to integrate their fragmented selves and rediscover wholeness in a fractured world
