MEd,2015-02-19 Although there are psychologists who believe that psychology is the answer to all of mankind's mental disorders there is no one program which will be effective to help fallen mankind. While the scientific knowledge of psychology has its place it must never supersede the infallible Word of God. Therefore counselors should use this therapy very moderately and with wisdom. Moreover there are not many psychologists from the secular arena who are of the opinion that the Word of God has any place in counseling. Still counseling is a function and ministry of the Christian church. A few years ago I did a research study which answered the question: What is the purpose for counseling in the Christian church and the role of psychology in this approach. In my findings I found that many pastors were not interested in counseling while others sent the hurting individual to secular professionals who do not acknowledge the fallen state of man. However one of the most important features of Christian counseling is the truth of God's word which has effect for any condition and helps the entire person: soul, body and spirit. This sets Christian counseling apart from secular which is based on psychology. The text is prepared for the Christian counselor who wants to excel in the profession with a desire to help the wounded counselee. Dr. Stuart is a Licensed Clinical Pastoral Counselor who has been in the profession for many years. She is the Associate Pastor of Hope Redemption Worship Center Inc. GA where Rev. Winston L. Blair is Pastor. For more on Dr. Stuart and to listen to archived programs on the internet go to www.frministry.org Christ-Centered Biblical Counseling James MacDonald, Bob Kellemen, Stephen Viars, 2013-03-01. Christ-Centered Biblical Counseling is a comprehensive guide that will equip God's people to use biblical truth to change lives. More than that this book will increase people's confidence in the sufficiency and relevancy of God's Word to address real life issues in a multitude of counseling situations. Readers of this book will understand clearly why they should embrace biblical counseling. Be encouraged to trust God's Word to provide rich insight for living in the midst of even the most difficult challenges. Enjoy the relevant pastoral and theological teaching they have come to appreciate from such noted authors as James MacDonald, John Piper, Mark Dever and Elyse Fitzpatrick. The 28 chapters blend theological wisdom and practical expertise. The first half of the book emphasizes a practical theology of biblical counseling; the second half highlights a practical methodology of biblical counseling. Though accessible to all Christians the book will especially appeal to pastors and church leaders, counseling practitioners, students and educators.

The Biblical Counseling Movement after Adams (Foreword by David Powlison) Heath Lambert, 2011-11-02. People inside and outside of the biblical counseling movement recognize differences between the foundational work of Jay Adams and that of current thought leaders such as David Powlison. But as any student or teacher of the discipline can attest those differences have been ill defined and largely anecdotal until now. Heath Lambert, the first scholar to analyze the movement's development from within, shows how biblical counseling emerged from and remains rooted in a commitment to the sufficiency of Scripture and the need to give practical help to struggling people. He identifies contemporary leaders including Powlison, Ed Welch, Paul Tripp and Wayne Mack who emphasize the sinner as sufferer, the heart as key to motivation and the need to interact humbly.

with critics Demonstrating how these refinements in framework methodology and engagement style are characteristic of a second generation of biblical counselors Lambert contends this new wave of counselors is now increasingly balanced in their counseling methods With a substantial foreword from David Powlison and strong support from prominent biblical counselors this book will help all Christians interested in the fundamentally theological task of counseling to think carefully and biblically about how it is taught and practiced
