Carrier, James G.

Capitalism Material Life 1400 1800:

Capitalism and Material Life, 1400-1800 Fernand Braudel, 1975 This work is concerned with the quest for progress in daily life throughout the world between the fifteenth and eighteenth centuries The author studies the demographic expansion that outstripped the production of goods and the many other factors that brought about the low subsistence level of the majority of people in contrast with the luxurious living standards of the wealthy and privileged few the effects of famine and plague the gradual expansion of the towns in a basically agricultural economy Fables of Modernity Laura Brown, 2001 This text expands the territory for cultural and literary criticism by introducing the concept of the cultural fable In connecting imagination and history through the category of the cultural fable Brown illuminates the nature of modern experience in the growing metropolitan centres Capitalism and Material Life, 1400-1800; Tr. by M. Kochan Fernand Braudel, 1973 The Power of Money Henry L. Bretton, 1980-01-01 Money is both a vibrant dynamic material substance and a social force that permeates industrial societies in their entirety Yet significant aspects of how money works in society are concealed by myths dogmas and misperceptions In The Power of Money Henry Bretton focuses on how money works in a democracy He contends that the well being of political democracy depends on a fuller understanding of the centrality of money in politics and he presents his ideas on monetary policy corruption and reform banking and politics private power within a democracy money in international relations and the system destroying effects of money Bretton considers the subject of money and democracy in the context of how monetarization of societies proceeded from antiquity to the Industrial Revolution and he analyzes the formative years of the United States in terms of being based on political ideas that did not take account of monetarization He reviews what social theorists and economists from Aristotle to Friedman have thought about the role of money in society and how it affects individual behavior and social norms The link between economics and politics has been only partially explored he contends and he sees the major task for social scientists as developing a fuller integration of the two mainstreams of social theory the political and the economic Deforesting the Earth Michael Williams, 2003 Clearing in the deep past Reaching out Europe and the wider world The global forest A Handbook of Economic Anthropology Carrier, James G., 2022-05-13 This timely Research Agenda examines the ways in which public private partnerships PPPs in infrastructure continue to excite policy makers governments research scholars and critics around the world It analyzes the PPP research journey to date and articulates the lessons learned as a result of the increasing interest in improving infrastructure governance Expert international contributors explore how PPP ideas have spread transferred and transformed and propose a range of future research directions Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd, 2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate. Additionally, the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national, regional, and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality. In addition to the Western tradition, it includes substantial assessments of African, Asian, and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies.

Spaces of Neoliberalization David Harvey, 2005. In these essays, David Harvey searches for adequate conceptualizations of space and of uneven geographical development that will help to understand the new historical geography of global capitalism. The theory of uneven geographical development needs further examination. The extreme volatility in contemporary political economic fortunes across and between spaces of the world economy cries out for better historical geographical analysis and theoretical interpretation. The political necessity is just as urgent since social inequalities have increased in recent decades. Fiscal crises have cascaded across much of the developing world with devastating results from Mexico to Indonesia, Russia, and Argentina. Simultaneously, the different oppositional movements to neoliberalism create both opportunities and barriers in the search for alternatives. Harvey shows that this search needs to be supported by a deeper theoretical understanding of the roles of space and uneven geographical development in shaping the world around us.

Indica, 1997. The Southern Enigma Walter J. Fraser, Winfred Moore, 1983-09-27. This collection of fifteen essays selected from papers presented at the April 1981 Citadel Conference on the South examines three of the most powerful operating forces in southern life: race, class, and folk culture. The Southern Enigma representing the work of both established and emerging scholars reflects the most recent historical analyses of southern history.

Tourism and Spatial Transformations Gregory John Ashworth, A. G. J. Dietvorst, 1995. While there is a considerable amount of recent literature on recreation and tourism as activities, there is little that provides a comprehensive review and analysis of intervention or planning in this sector. Tourism and recreation include a wide variety of activities occurring within a wide range of environments and spatial scales. The purpose of this book is to examine this transformation of space and draw out the implications for tourism policy and planning. The editors present a general model of transformation as a guide to intervention, and this is followed by 18 chapters divided into four parts. The first focuses on the producers and includes case studies from the Spanish coast, French mountains, and Northern Thailand. The second considers the management of the tourism product with examples from the Amsterdam waterfront development and holiday villages in Northern Europe. The third section is concerned with consumers as managers of the transformation process, drawing on information from nature-based tourism, sports tourism, and festival events. The final part provides a more holistic model of the planning of recreation and tourism.
