Chapter 7 Haralambos And Holborn:

Talcott Parsons Shaun Best, 2026-02-02 This is not a conventional biography but an attempt to explore the motives and intentions that underpin Talcott Parsons published work by exploring the reasoning Parsons shares with his readers in the pages of his many published works and the possible links between Parsons academic outputs and the social economic and political situations in which Parsons found himself during the course of his life Shaun Best brings together biography and the sociology of knowledge to demonstrate that there are links between the phases of Parsons theorizing the political economic and social problems facing the United States the circumstances in which he found himself and the intellectual decisions he made about what to publish The assumption which underpins Parsons work is that knowledge is produced by people in particular historical conditions grounded in sensory experience exercising choice judgment and reflection on those experiences Thus this book explores and evaluates Parsons ideas and arguments in relation to developments in social theory since the 1970s

Questioning Qualitative Inquiry Martyn Hammersley, 2008-07-10 Is qualitative research in crisis In Questioning Qualitative Inquiry Martyn Hammersley raises fundamental questions about the current state of qualitative social research He examines some of the changes that have taken place within it over the past fifty years suggesting that the move away from natural science as a model and towards an appeal to literature and art involves rejection of key principles that are essential to research of any kind Hammersley argues that in important respects qualitative inquiry has not lived up to the claims originally made on its behalf and that more recent developments have worsened the situation Insufficient attention has been given to the problems surrounding leading ideas like thick description analytic induction and constructionism The argument is pursued through discussion of the work of influential writers such as Clifford Geertz Denzin and Lincoln and by detailed examination of concrete issues like the value of interview data the rationales for discourse and conversation analysis the role of rhetoric in research reports and the nature of assessment criteria At a time when qualitative inquiry is coming under renewed challenge in some quarters the task of addressing the methodological problems it faces has become urgent These essays on current developments and debates are essential reading for anyone interested in the future of qualitative research

Poverty in Nigeria Mustapha C. Duze, Habu Mohammed, Ibrahim Ahmed Kiyawa, 2008 One of the critical concerns in Nigeria is how to alleviate poverty in the country The general prevalence of poverty in Nigeria is paradoxical because the country is one of the biggest oil producing countries in the world A 1999 World Bank report for instance showed that some 70 per cent of the population lives below the bread line usually considered as living on less than US 1 00 a day This raises a number of very important questions What are really responsible for the wide prevalence of poverty in Nigeria in the midst of plenty How is poverty manifested in the country What alleviation strategies are in place How effective are they And what are the implications of all these for the country's democracy project political stability nation building and development discourse Contributors to this volume address these questions and provide insights into some of the central issues in the discussion of poverty including how the poor themselves struggle to cope or adapt to their condition Using multidisciplinary perspectives the contributors critique the current alleviation strategies and recommend more viable and better targeted approaches that will sharply reduce the incidence of poverty in Nigeria
