Automated Biometrics David Zhang, 2000-05-31 Biometrics based authentication and identification are emerging as the most reliable method to authenticate and identify individuals Biometrics requires that the person to be identified be physically present at the point of identification and relies on something which you are or you do to provide better security increased efficiency and improved accuracy Automated biometrics deals with physiological or behavioral characteristics such as fingerprints signature palmprint iris hand voice and face that can be used to authenticate a person's identity or establish an identity from a database With rapid progress in electronic and Internet commerce there is also a growing need to authenticate the identity of a person for secure transaction processing Designing an automated biometrics system to handle large population identification accuracy and reliability of authentication are challenging tasks Currently there are over ten different biometrics systems that are either widely used or under development Some automated biometrics such as fingerprint identification and speaker verification have received considerable attention over the past 25 years and some issues like face recognition and iris based authentication have been studied extensively resulting in successful development of biometrics systems in commercial applications However very few books are exclusively devoted to such issues of automated biometrics Automated Biometrics Technologies and Systems systematically introduces the technologies and systems and explores how to design the corresponding systems with in depth discussion The issues addressed in this book are highly relevant to many fundamental concerns of both researchers and practitioners of automated biometrics in computer and system security
