ABSTRACT

Caffeine extracted and characterised from tea (black) leaves and coffee beans. Isolation was done by liquid-liquid extraction using di-chloromethane as an extracting agent. This extraction was done in four steps: steeping, evaporation, liquid-liquid extraction and recrystallization. The recrystallization was done using anhydrous sodium sulphate. The technique used for purity analysis and characterisation were: High performance liquid chromatography, Differential scanning calorimeter, Fourier transform infrared spectroscopy and Melting point. First, the analysis was done using melting point analysis. The melting point of caffeine extracted from coffee beans and tea leaves was found to be 238°C. The absorption bands were compared with that available in literature and were found to be similar. Further, the purity check was done using High performance liquid chromatography method. Effective characterization of caffeine was achieved by determining Infrared spectrum, and employing a melting point apparatus and differential scanning calorimeter. The purity showed that the results that the extracted coffee was 90% pure. Further improvements in extraction efficiency will increase the yield and minimize wastage.

Key Words: Caffeine, Methyl xanthine, Theophylline, Differential scanning calorimeter, Fourier transform infrared spectroscopy, High performance liquid chromatography

INTRODUCTION

Caffeine is a psychoactive CNS stimulant drug discovered by German chemist Friedrich Ferdinand Runge in 1819. He coined the term "Kaffein" which became Caffeine¹. Along with nicotine and alcohol, caffeine is one of the three most widely used mood – affecting drugs in the world³.

OBJECTIVES

1. To extract caffeine from tea leaves and coffee beans by liquid-liquid extraction method.
2. To characterize the obtained caffeine by melting point, Infrared spectroscopy and Differential scanning calorimeter method.

3. To develop an easily adaptable method for the qualitative or purity analysis of caffeine

PHYSICAL AND CHEMICAL PROPERTIES

Caffeine is sparingly soluble in most polar solvents but is highly soluble in less polar solvents. The melting point is 234°C-239°C and the chemical formula is $C_8H_{10}N_4O_2$. It is an intensely bitter, white powder in its pure state. Caffeine is an alkaloid of the methylxanthine family, which also includes the similar compounds theophylline and theobromine³. The structure of caffeine is
