

Read the passage below. Summarize the passage using between 25 and 50 words. Type your response in the box at the bottom of the screen. You have 10 minutes to finish this task. Your response will be judged on the quality of your writing and on how well your response presents the key points in the passage.

According to researchers, the invisibility cloak illusion stems from the belief that we are much more socially observant than the people around us. This means that, while we watch and wonder about other people as much as possible, we often think that people around us are less aware. This illusion occurs because, while we are fully aware of our own impressions and speculations about other people, we have no idea about what those other people are thinking unless they choose to share with us, something that rarely happens except in exceptional circumstances.

To better understand what is happening, it is important to consider the groundbreaking research by Amos Tversky and Daniel Kahneman on cognitive biases. When people make judgments about other people in social situations, they often depend on specific biases such as the availability heuristic, i.e., that we attach more significance to thoughts that come to mind easily. This is why we consider thoughts about other people as being more important than thoughts about inanimate objects. And so, as we look around us, we tend to focus our thoughts on the people we see and what they happen to be doing. Which is why people-watching can be so addictive.

What adds to the sense that we are relatively invisible to others is that people tend to be as discreet as possible about their people-watching. Just because other people aren't sharing their observations with us, it's easy to pretend that they are not as observant as we are. Of course, people may share their people-watching observations with anyone they happen to be with but, for the most part, that only applies to something remarkable enough to comment on. For most of us, what we are seeing tends to be extremely private and not to be shared with others.

Proceedings of the HCT International General Education Conference (HCT-IGEC 2023) Andrew Johnston, Bharti Pandya, Hesham Allam, Kavita Shah, Nicole Shammas, Nayela Mohamed, 2023-11-14 This is an open access book The Higher Colleges of Technology's

General Studies Division and the HCT Dubai Women's campus hosted the HCT International General Education Conference online edition on October 5 2022 under the theme of Practice and Pedagogy in General Education. General Education in today's hyper-connected and virtual world plays a vital role in providing students with a range of opportunities to develop their abilities to think critically and creatively. This in turn fosters an innovative mindset enriching students' understanding of the wider social and cultural contexts in which they will live and work. Hence the discipline of General Education provides students with much needed breadth and depth of knowledge from developing mathematical skills to raising awareness of sustainability issues and improving communication skills. The conference organizing committee welcomes higher education scholars, researchers, and teachers from around the world to participate in the online free-of-charge conference by sharing teaching and learning best practices and techniques, pedagogical delivery and enhancement, current research endeavors, and the optimization of student learning and engagement in an inclusive and collaborative environment that promotes knowledge sharing and exchange, as well as networking and camaraderie. Educators and researchers from across the different academic disciplines within the field of General Education are welcome to attend and share their insights, experiences, and expertise to ensure a rich and productive discussion.

The Routledge Handbook of Language Testing Glenn Fulcher, Luke Harding, 2021-12-15. This second edition of The Routledge Handbook of Language Testing provides an updated and comprehensive account of the area of language testing and assessment. The volume brings together 35 authoritative articles divided into ten sections written by 51 leading specialists from around the world. There are five entirely new chapters covering the four skills: reading, writing, listening, and speaking, as well as a new entry on corpus linguistics and language testing. The remaining 30 chapters have been revised, often extensively or entirely rewritten, with new authorship teams at the helm, reflecting new generations of expertise in the field. With a dedicated section on technology in language testing, reflecting current trends in the field, the Handbook also includes an extended epilogue written by Harding and Fulcher, contemplating what has changed between the first and second editions and charting a trajectory for the field of language testing and assessment. Providing a basis for discussion, project work, and the design of both language tests themselves and related validation research, this Handbook represents an invaluable resource for students, researchers, and practitioners working in language testing and assessment.
