Geotechnical Aspects of Underground Construction in Soft Ground Mohammed Elshafie, Giulia Viggiani, Robert Mair, 2021-05-10 Geotechnical Aspects of Underground Construction in Soft Ground comprises a collection of 112 papers the Fujita Lecture three Special Lectures and the Bright Spark Lecture presented at the Tenth International Symposium on Geotechnical Aspects of Underground Construction in Soft Ground held in Cambridge United Kingdom 27-29 June 2022 This second edition includes four general reports on the symposium themes The symposium is the latest in a series which began in New Delhi in 1994 and was followed by symposia in London 1996 Tokyo 1999 Toulouse 2002 Amsterdam 2005 Shanghai 2008 Rome 2011 Seoul 2014 and Sao Paulo 2017 This was organised by the Geotechnical Research Group at the University of Cambridge under the auspices of the Technical Committee TC204 of the International Society for Soil Mechanics and Geotechnical Engineering ISSMGE Geotechnical Aspects of Underground Construction in Soft Ground includes contributions from more than 25 countries on research design and construction of underground works in soft ground The contributions cover Field case studies Sensing technologies and monitoring for underground construction in soft ground Physical and numerical modelling of tunnels and deep excavations in soft ground Seismic response of underground infrastructure in soft ground Design and application of ground improvement for underground construction Ground movements interaction with existing structures and mitigation measures The general reports give an overview of the papers submitted to the symposium covered in four technical sessions The proceedings include the written version of the five invited lectures covering topics ranging from developments in geotechnical aspects of underground construction tunnelling and groundwater interaction short and long term effects the influence of earth pressure balance shield tunnelling on pre convergence and segmental liner loading field observations modelling and implications on design Similar to previous editions Geotechnical Aspects of Underground Construction in Soft Ground represents a valuable source of reference on the current practice of analysis design and construction of tunnels and deep excavations in soft ground The book is particularly aimed at academics and professionals interested in geotechnical and underground engineering A Directory of Computer Software Applications, Ground Engineering, 1988 Maritime Information Review, 1999 The Structural Engineer, 1999 Studia Geotechnica Et Mechanica, 2006 Development of Abutment Design Standards for Local Bridge Designs: Development of design methodology, 2004 Several superstructure design methodologies have been developed for low volume road bridges by the Iowa State University Bridge Engineering Center However to date no standard abutment designs have been developed Thus there was a need to establish an easy to use design methodology in addition to generating generic abutment standards and other design aids for the more common substructure systems used in Iowa The final report for this project consists of three volumes The first volume summarizes the research completed in this project A survey of the Iowa County Engineers was conducted from which it was determined that while most counties use similar types of abutments only 17 percent use some type of standard abutment designs or plans A literature review revealed several possible alternative abutment systems for future use on low volume road bridges in addition to two separate substructure lateral load analysis methods These consisted of a linear and a non linear method The linear analysis method was used for this project due to its relative simplicity and the relative accuracy of the maximum pile moment when compared to values obtained from the more complex non linear analysis method The resulting design methodology was developed for single span stub abutments supported on steel or timber piles with a bridge span length ranging from 20 to 90 ft and roadway widths of 24 and 30 ft However other roadway widths can be designed using the foundation design template provided The backwall height is limited to a range of 6 to 12 ft and the soil type is classified as cohesive or cohesionless The design methodology was developed using the guidelines specified by the American Association of State Highway Transportation Officials Standard Specifications the Iowa Department of Transportation Bridge Design Manual and the National Design Specifications for Wood Construction The second volume introduces and outlines the use of the various design aids developed for this project Charts for determining dead and live gravity loads based on the roadway width span length and superstructure type are provided A foundation design template was developed in which the engineer can check a substructure design by inputting basic bridge site information Tables published by the Iowa Department of Transportation that provide values for estimating pile friction and end bearing for different combinations of soils and pile types are also included Generic standard abutment plans were developed for which the engineer can provide necessary bridge site information in the spaces provided These tools enable engineers to design and detail county bridge substructures more efficiently The third volume provides two sets of calculations that demonstrate the application of the substructure design methodology developed in this project These calculations also verify the accuracy of the foundation design template The printouts from the foundation design template are provided at the end of each example Also several tables provide various foundation details for a pre cast double tee superstructure with different combinations of soil type backwall height and pile type
