1. What are your best skills for solving problems? How do you use them to solve problems in this exploration?

Looking about towards those who have bought before helps them decide.

Warm-Up

Like an unstable nucleus, the substance A decays over time through a sequence of transitions, always changing by emitting alpha or beta particles until energy is no longer stored within the nucleus, and it changes into a stable daughter nucleus.

The half-life of a substance is the time it takes for half of the substance to decay. The substance shown in the Gizmo has a half-life of 100 years.

Amount (grams) Time (years)

3. What do you predict will happen?

A constant proportion will.

Notes: The following simulation uses three daughter nuclei to illustrate the particles and energy interacting through successive decays.

4. What happens at the end of the decay process?

Nothing more.

5. In the simulation, what is the beginning, middle, or end of the process?
