The ITIL guiding principles

Guiding principle	Description
Focus on value	Everything that the organization does needs to create, directly or indirectly, a benefit to the organization. The focus of value principle encompasses many perspectives, including the experience of customers and users. Do not just focus on specific activities, but also on the overall context in which they are performed. There is a risk that a great idea in the current context becomes a program, project, and people that can be used to create the desired outcome.
Start where you are	The current state should be investigated and assessed, taking into account the fully understood context. Do not attempt to do everything at once. Start high, then gradually move down to details. By organizing work into smaller, manageable pieces that can be completed and completed in a timely manner, you can maintain a strategic focus on each effort.
Progress iteratively with feedback	Work in small, frequent, and often visible increments of work that allow you to focus and adapt. Regularly review, assess, and improve. Working together on work that is broken down into smaller, more frequent results, facilitates greater focus, more resources to allocate, and increased likelihood of long-term success.
Collaborate and promote visibility	Working together across organizational boundaries, and local, global, and cross-functional, creates better outcomes.

Achieving value: costs

Costs

Achieving desired outcomes requires resources (and therefore costs) which often associated with risk. Service providers help their customers to address outcomes and to design or take on some of the associated risks and costs. On the other hand, service relationships can introduce new risks and costs, and in some cases, can negatively affect some of the intended outcomes after supporting others.

Value

Value is the difference between the expected and actual realization of the benefits, opportunities, costs, products, services, and experiences that should be realized to provide a desired value. It is a process, service, solution or other form to provide value to produce a useful outcome. Therefore, it is a process or procedure. Use the maximum number of value streams to maximize the opportunities. Always use customer-focused thinking to produce practical solutions that deliver results.
Realization of all types, particularly intangible, requires that the best effort, knowledge, skills, and fully accepted and used knowledge to address whatever is a capable of human, interaction should only happen once, and it should be done.

Guerrilla Capacity Planning Neil J. Gunther,2007-01-17 In these days of shortened fiscal horizons and contracted time to market schedules traditional approaches to capacity planning are often seen by management as tending to inflate their production schedules Rather than giving up in the face of this kind of relentless pressure to get things done faster Guerrilla Capacity Planning facilitates rapid forecasting of capacity requirements based on the opportunistic use of whatever performance data and tools are available in such a way that management insight is expanded but their schedules are not A key Guerrilla concept is tactical planning whereby short range planning questions and projects are brought up in team meetings such that management is compelled to know the answer and therefore buys into capacity planning without recognizing it as such Once you have your foot in the door capacity planning methods can be refined in an iterative cycle of improvement called The Wheel of Capacity Planning

Another unique Guerrilla tool is Virtual Load Testing based on Dr Gunther's Universal Law of Computational Scaling which provides a highly cost effective method for assessing application scalability
