The Language Portfolio and Its Contribution to Learner Autonomy and Intrinsic Motivation in the EFL Nils Hübinger, 2013-04-26 Seminar paper from the year 2011 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 14 Justus Liebig University Giessen Anglistik course Seminar Diagnostic Competence language English abstract The approach to English foreign language acquisition in German schools has significantly changed in the last decade Today students no longer start to learn English in grade five but begin with the very basics in primary school In most states English as a foreign language is introduced in grade three some states have gone even further and start teaching English in the first grade e.g. North Rhine Westphalia Besides these changes a major shift from a teacher to a learner centered classroom took place Consequently the individual learner and his or her language learning process have become more important in the English foreign language EFL classroom than before New methodology such as strategic learning reflection and self evaluation have moved to the center of attention in order to enhance students language learning efficiency In order to approach these new competences in an appropriate way for children the language portfolio was developed and introduced to foreign language learners By now there are a number of different portfolio such as the European Language Portfolio for language learners in secondary schools and adults or Mein Sprachenportfolio which is being used in primary schools in the state of Hesse Those new methods of language learning are meant to offer students the chance to monitor their own language learning process and eventually allow them to see their own learning progress over the years One of the major goals of the portfolio is to rise learners motivation and interest in language learning Research over many years has shown that motivation plays a great role when it comes to foreign language learning and learning in general Therefore it is certain that motivation has significant influence on a person s success or failure in language learning The portfolio might be the key to the problem of creating fostering and maintaining language learners motivation over a period of time that exceeds childhood and adolescence
