(Chapter – 1) (Sexual Reproduction in Flowering Plants)

(Class – XII)

Question 6:

With a neat diagram explain the 7-celled, 8-nucleate nature of the female gametophyte.

Answer 6:

The female gametophyte (embryo sac) develops from a single functional megaspore. This megaspore undergoes three successive mitotic divisions to form eight nucleate embryo sacs. The first mitotic division in the megaspore forms two nuclei. One nucleus moves towards the micropylar end while the other nucleus moves towards the chalazal end. Then, these nuclei divide at their respective ends and re-divide to form eight nucleate stages. As a result, there are four nuclei each at both the ends i.e., at the micropylar and the chalazal end in the embryo sac. At the micropylar end, out of the four nuclei only three differentiate into two synergids and one egg cell. Together they are known as the egg apparatus. Similarly, at the chalazal end, three out of four nuclei differentiates as antipodal cells. The remaining two cells (of the micropylar and the chalazal end) move towards the centre and are known as the polar nuclei, which are situated in a large central cell. Hence, at maturity, the female gametophyte appears as a 7-celled structure, though it has 8 nucleate.

Question 7:

What are chasmogamous flowers? Can cross-pollination occur in cleistogamous flowers? Give reasons for your answer.

Answer 7:

There are two types of flowers present in plants namely Oxalis and Viola – chasmogamous and cleistogamous flowers.

Chasmogamous flowers have exposed anthers and stigmata similar to the flowers of other species.

Cross-pollination cannot occur in cleistogamous flowers. This is because cleistogamous flowers never open at all. Also, the anther and the stigma lie close to each other in these flowers. Hence, only self-pollination is possible in these flowers.

Frigatebirds, Sea Lions, and Darwin David B. Schreiner, 2025-04-15 In the Schreiner household conversations about creation evolution and ecology happen more often than normal Schreiner teaches biblical studies and his brother in law is a biologist And both teach at institutions of Christian higher education However when Schreiner's family was able to take a trip to Galapagos Islands in 2023 and 2024 his interpretive conclusions on the Bible's creation texts shifting positions on ecology and general moral responsibility as a Christian collided in a palpable way Inspired by a range of experiences from mingling with sea lions to taking water ferries across the Pacific to snorkeling with sharks Schreiner jovially shares experiences and musings that testify to his shifting positions on these matters his frustrations with the usual conversations and whether he thinks there can be true irenic conversation between Christians and scientists Informed blunt sometimes snarky but always honest Schreiner's musings will likely resonate with anyone who travels with their family or wants to be honest about the many variables that must inform a Christian's position on issues of creation evolution and ecology
