Criticism and Pedagogical Directions for Contemporary Black Women Writers LaToya Jefferson-James, 2022-03-03 New Criticism and Pedagogical Directions for Contemporary Black Women Writers is a collection of critical and pedagogical essays that shed new light on the creative depths of Black women writers On the one hand some Black women writers have been heavily anthologized they have more often than not been restricted by critical metanarratives Some of their works have been lionized while others remain neglected On the other hand some Black women writers have been ignored and understudied This collection corrects the gaps in our critical thinking about Black women writers by introducing them to a new generation of undergraduate and graduate students and by presenting pedagogical essays to our colleagues currently working in the field Our Mothers, Our Powers, Our Texts Teresa N. Washington, 2005-06-27 Washington writes supple and thoughtful prose and creatively integrates African and African derived terminology which never distract the reader I consider Our Mothers Our Powers Our Texts not only a brilliant study but also a model to be emulated Ousseynou B Traore William Patterson University j is a Yoruba word that signifies a spiritual power of vast potential as well as the human beings who exercise that power Although both men and women can have j its owners and controllers are women the literal and cosmic Mothers who are revered as the gods of society Because of its association with female power its invisibility and profundity j is often misconstrued as witchcraft However as Teresa N Washington points out in Our Mothers Our Powers Our Texts j is central to the Yoruba ethos and cosmology Not only does it underpin the concepts of creation and creativity but as a force of justice and retribution j is essential to social harmony and balance As Africans were forced into exile and enslavement they took j with them and continued its work of creating destroying harming and healing in the New World Washington seeks out j s subversive power of creation and re creation in a diverse range of Africana texts from both men and women from both oral and contemporary literature and across space and time She guides readers to an understanding of the symbolic methodological and spiritual issues that are central to important works by Africana writers but are rarely elucidated by Western criticism She begins with an examination of the ancient forms of j in Yoruba culture which creates a framework for innovative readings of important works by Africana writers including Zora Neale Hurston Toni Morrison Ben Okri Wole Soyinka Jamaica Kincaid and Ntozake Shange This rich analysis will appeal to readers of Africana literature African religion and philosophy feminist studies and comparative literature

Contemporary African American Fiction Robert Butler, 1998 The book argues that from its very beginnings African American journey narratives are distinctively non teleological that is they typically resist being directed toward an end point in a particular place and instead exult in movement through indefinite space They view movement as intrinsically valuable a process of endless becoming rather than a carefully mapped journey resulting in a completed state of being rooted in a fixed place As such these journeys are a compelling metaphor of the American desire for the new life consisting of unlimited personal development The writers examined in this book offer a unique set of variations on this kind of open journey

African American Literature Beyond Race Gene Andrew Jarrett, 2006-04 An anthology of 16 stories and excerpts from novels by African American writers includes critical essays on each author by a variety of scholars

Gender, Race, and American Science Fiction Jason Haslam, 2015-05-08 This book focuses on the interplay of gender race and their representation in American science fiction from the nineteenth century through to the twenty first and across a number of forms including literature and film Haslam explores the reasons why SF provides such a rich medium for both the preservation of and challenges to dominant mythologies of gender and race Defining SF linguistically and culturally the study argues that this mode is not only able to illuminate the cultural and social histories of gender and race but so too can it intervene in those histories and highlight the ruptures present within them The volume moves between material history and the linguistic nature of SF fantasies from the specifics of race and gender at different points in American history to larger analyses of the socio cultural functions of such identity categories SF has already become central to discussions of humanity in the global capitalist age and is increasingly the focus of feminist and critical race studies in combining these earlier approaches this book goes further to demonstrate why SF must become central to our discussions of identity writ large of the possibilities and failings of the human past present and future Focusing on the interplay of whiteness and its various others in relation to competing gender constructs chapters analyze works by Nathaniel Hawthorne Mary E Bradley Lane Edgar Rice Burroughs Philip Francis Nowlan George S Schuyler and the Wachowskis Frank Herbert William Gibson and Octavia Butler Academics and students interested in the study of Science Fiction American literature and culture and Whiteness Studies as well as those engaged in critical gender and race studies will find this volume invaluable
