Botnets Heli Tiirmaa-Klaar,Jan Gassen,Elmar Gerhards-Padilla,Peter Martini,2013-06-29 Malware poses one of the major threats to all currently operated computer systems The scale of the problem becomes obvious by looking at the global economic loss caused by different kinds of malware which is estimated to be more than US 10 billion every year Botnets a special kind of malware are used to reap economic gains by criminals as well as for politically motivated activities In contrast to other kinds of malware botnets utilize a hidden communication channel to receive commands from their operator and communicate their current status The ability to execute almost arbitrary commands on the infected machines makes botnets a general purpose tool to perform malicious cyber activities Botnets provides a comprehensive analysis of the topic and comprises both technical and non technical sections written by leading cybersecurity experts The non technical section addresses how botnet infrastructure could be exploited for national security and cybercrime purposes It approaches the subject as a public policy issue and analyzes the phenomenon of botnets from national security law enforcement and regulatory policy perspectives and makes recommendations for policy makers on different public policies highlighting the need for international response mechanisms The technical section provides insight into current botnet techniques and discusses state of the art countermeasures to combat the botnet threat in detail It includes new detection methods as well as different approaches to actively compromise running botnets

Exploring Current and Future Security Issues Concerns of Botnets and Cyber Crime Emilio Antonio Tatis,2016 This thesis examines the history and development of botnets surveys their role in Internet crimes and assesses the risk they pose to modern information systems Botnets facilitate large scale attacks on web based applications and information systems that rely on the Internet Furthermore a botnet s disbursement of infected hosts throughout the Internet allows criminals to launch the origin of their attacks Consequently law enforcement and computer security organizations find it increasingly difficult to eliminate botnets This inability to successfully mitigate these attacks along with the increasing dependency on the Internet as an information infrastructure increases the risks of botnet based attacks on critical services such as emergency response industrial control and government and banking systems Even though various mitigation techniques exist to detect and limit botnet based attacks many critical Internet dependent industries remain unaware of the persistent threat these attacks pose and their potential costs This paper explores the effects that botnet based attacks have on both the global and individual level as they may target both critical government and home Internet of Things IoT networks Through the survey and comparison of various frameworks for mitigation this paper provides a deeper understanding of botnet detection and prevention and suggests how both the private sector and governments can address botnet threats

Zombies and Botnets Kim-Kwang Raymond Choo,2007 Bot programs allow attackers to remotely control vulnerable computers and form virtual networks of zombies botnets Botnets can be leveraged to orchestrate concerted attacks against other computing resources for example distributed denial of service DDoS attacks against targeted networks The shift in motivation from curiosity and fame seeking to illicit financial gain has been marked by a growing sophistication in the evolution of bot malware The ABS estimated that there were over 6 65 million active internet subscribers in Australia in September 2006 Most subscribers are households with over 5 83 million household users compared with 826 000 business and government users This paper examines the activities and consequences associated with botnets and provides examples of existing incidents so that subscribers can be better informed of the risks Business government and individual householders need to be aware of risk mitigation strategies and to ensure that these strategies are implemented and updated as attacks on the internet are not likely to disappear any time soon
