Baumbach,Ulla Ratheiser,2021-11-20 This volume explores the politics and poetics of Victorian surfaces in their manifold manifestations In so doing it examines various cultural products as they are and highlights the art of surface composition in the Victorian era as well as the socio cultural ramifications of the preoccupation with the exterior By closely reading the various surfaces materialising in Victorian literature and culture the individual contributions explore the dialectics of surface and depth in Victorian and Neo Victorian cultures as well as the legibility of surfaces They look into the surfaces of literary narratives paintings and film but also into natural surfaces such as skin or bark Each chapter foregrounds what is present rather than absent in a text while also paying attention to the surfaces that become manifest on the diegetic level of the text be they cloth landscapes or human bodies or faces This is an open access book Suicide in the Entertainment Industry

Night and a prospective father in law in Guess Who's Coming to Dinner In his characters restrained responses to white people's ignorance and bad behavior Poitier represented racial reconciliation and reciprocal respect the Poitier effect that Sharon Willis traces through cinema and television from the civil rights era to our own The Poitier effect in Willis's account is a function of white wishful thinking about race relations It represents a dream of achieving racial reconciliation and equality without any substantive change to the white world This notion of change without change conforms smoothly with a fantasy of colorblindness a culture in which difference makes no difference Willis demonstrates how Poitier's embodiment of such a fantasy figures in the popular cinema of the civil rights era and reasserts itself in recent melodramas such as The Long Walk Home Pleasantville Far from Heaven and The Help From change without change to change we can believe in her book reveals how the Poitier effect complicated by contemporary ideas about feminism sexuality and privilege continues to inform our collective memory as well as our visions of a postracial society
