New Media Narratives and Cultural Influence in Malaysia Radzuwan Ab Rashid, Azweed Mohamad, 2019-07-23 This book in religious studies uses a Malaysian apostasy case study as a platform to investigate and discuss the broader radicalisation of apostates on social networking sites. It provides new insights into the emerging phenomenon of how social media tools are harnessed to promote faith and beliefs systems specifically looking at the Malay view of apostasy from Islam. Employing sociocultural theory and theoretical concepts to analyse the discursive behaviour of a Malaysian apostate on a social networking site, the study unpacks how digital storytelling and rhetorical strategies can influence readers culturally and socially and contribute to identity construction in relation to politicised viewpoints. The analysis of the discourse surrounding apostasy in Malaysia enables parallels to be drawn to such discourses in other parts of the world, raising discussions on the connections between inflammatory online rhetoric and social problems such as recruitment to terrorism, involvement in gangs or the use of addictive substances. This book is of particular interest to scholars and students considering the intersection of critical discourse analysis and religious studies. It is of interest to sociolinguists and psychologists interested in online media.

Embodied Communication in Humans and Machines Ipke Wachsmuth, Manuela Lenzen, Günther Knoblich, 2008-09-04 When people communicate face to face they don't just exchange verbal information. Rather, communication encompasses the whole body. Communication partners synchronize their body sway and mimic or imitate each other's body postures and actions. They produce a multitude of manual and facial gestures that help to illustrate what is being said, show how communication partners feel or reveal verbal deception. Moreover, face-to-face communication takes place in shared contexts where partners jointly attend and refer to the same objects, often while working on joint tasks such as carrying a table or repairing a car together. Traditionally, communication research has neglected these parts of communication, using the engineering model of signal transmission as the main theoretical metaphor. This book takes a new look at recent empirical findings in the cognitive and neurosciences, showing that the traditional approach is insufficient and presenting a new interdisciplinary perspective: the Embodied Communication perspective. The core claim of the Embodied Communication perspective is that human communication involves parallel and highly interactive couplings between communication partners. These couplings range from low-level systems for performing and understanding instrumental actions like the mirror system to higher systems that interpret symbols in a cultural context. The book can also serve as a guide for engineers who construct artificial agents and robots that should be able to interact with humans.

Persuasion in Specialised Discourses Olga Dontcheva-Navratilova, Martin Adam, Renata Povolná, Radek Vogel, 2020-12-10 This book examines the concept of persuasion in written texts for specialist audiences in the English and Czech languages. By exploring a corpus of academic research articles, corporate reports, religious sermons, and user manuals, the authors aim to reveal similarities and differences in rhetorical strategies across cultures and genres They draw on Biber and Conrad s 2009 model for contextualising interaction in specialised discourses Bell s 1997 framework for the analysis of participants roles Swales 1990 genre analysis approach for considering genre constraints and Hyland s 2005 metadiscourse model for investigating writer reader interaction The result is a book which will appeal to researchers and students in Discourse Studies especially those with an interest in genre and rhetorical strategies

Rhetoric Basics Harrison Stewart, AI, 2025-05-06 Rhetoric Basics explores the art of persuasion through language teaching readers how to craft compelling and effective communications Understanding rhetoric empowers individuals to become discerning consumers of information and skilled communicators in academic professional and civic settings The book breaks down core rhetorical concepts like ethos credibility logos logic and pathos emotion demonstrating how these elements influence audiences For example understanding pathos can help one recognize emotional manipulation in advertising The book progresses logically by first introducing the history and core concepts of rhetoric before delving into detailed analyses of ethos logos and pathos individually It uses real world examples from literature speeches and contemporary media to show how these techniques work Rhetoric Basics uniquely emphasizes the practical application of rhetorical principles in everyday communication providing actionable strategies to analyze and construct persuasive messages This textbook is designed for students of language arts and anyone seeking to improve their communication skills With its accessible style the book avoids jargon and offers examples exercises and assessment tools to facilitate learning By mastering the art of rhetoric readers can enhance their ability to effectively communicate in all aspects of their lives from writing persuasive essays to delivering impactful presentations
