Beyond Environmental Comfort Boon Lay Ong, 2013-06-26 Beyond Environmental Comfort highlights some of the key ideas that form the foundation of the field of environmental comfort and at the same time gives voice to some of the concerns and considerations on the limitations of the field as it stands today Bringing together a range of foremost thinkers in their respective fields Michel Cabanac Derek Clements Croome Nick Baker Harold Marshall Juhani Pallasmaa Dean Hawkes and Constance Classen this book argues for a deeper appreciation of how environmental comfort may be understood in terms of our relationship with the environment rather than as independent qualities For the first time these diverse views are brought together by Editor Boon Lay Ong to present insights into a world beyond what is normally covered in academic research In the process an attempt is made to define the field for the future This book shows that it is by understanding just how environmental design needs to go beyond mere comfort and deal with well being that we can meaningfully design our future Building Systems Integration for Enhanced Environmental Performance Shahin Vassigh, Jason R. Chandler, 2011 Looks at the issues of sustainability and environmental impact in the field of building design and architecture This book addresses sustainability in building design through development of a series of examples presented as three dimensional models of well integrated building systems Peter Zumthor Works Peter Zumthor, 1998 Subject Guide to Books in Print, 2001 Structures and Architecture Paulo J. Cruz, 2016-10-14 Although the disciplines of architecture and structural engineering have both experienced their own historical development their interaction has resulted in many fascinating and delightful structures To take this interaction to a higher level there is a need to stimulate the inventive and creative design of architectural structures and to persuade architects and structural engineers to further collaborate in this process exploiting together new concepts applications and challenges This set of book of abstracts and full paper searchable CD ROM presents selected papers presented at the 3rd International Conference on Structures and Architecture Conference ICSA2016 organized by the School of Architecture of the University of Minho Guimar es Portugal July 2016 to promote the synergy in the collaboration between the disciplines of architecture and structural engineering Architecture Today, 2001 Minimalist Architecture Franco Bertoni, 2002-08 Minimalism as a concept was first used in the world of art to characterize the work of Donald Judd Sol Le Witt and several others Soon afterwards this creative approach began to take hold in architecture and the works of many contemporary architects are rooted in Minimalism to a greater or lesser degree This publication goes to the heart of this trend looking first at Loos Wittgenstein Mies van der Rohe and Asplund the definitive precursors of Minimalism Then the works of today s protagonists who include Tadao Ando Luis Barragan Alberto Campo Baeza A G Fronzoni Michael Gabellini John Pawson Claudio Silvestrin Eduardo Souto Moura and Peter Zumthor are covered extensively A selection of texts contributed by the featured architects conclude the volume With a clear even austere presentation this book not only reflects its contents but provides a comprehensive overview of Minimalism one of the dominant trends in contemporary architecture Harvard Design Magazine, 2004 Architectural Publications Index, 1999 Heidegger's Hut Adam Sharr, 2006 The intense relationship between philosopher Martin Heidegger and his cabin in the Black Forest the first substantial account of die Htte and its influence on Heidegger s life and work This is the most thorough architectural crit of a hut ever set down the justification for which is that the hut was the setting in which Martin Heidegger wrote phenomenological texts that became touchstones for late twentieth century architectural theory from the foreword by Simon Sadler Beginning in the summer of 1922 philosopher Martin Heidegger 1889 1976 occupied a small three room cabin in the Black Forest Mountains of southern Germany He called it die Htte the hut Over the years Heidegger worked on many of his most famous writings in this cabin from his early lectures to his last enigmatic texts He claimed an intellectual and emotional intimacy with the building and its surroundings and even suggested that the landscape expressed itself through him almost without agency In Heidegger s Hut

Adam Sharr explores this intense relationship of thought place and person Heidegger's mountain hut has been an object of fascination for many including architects interested in his writings about dwelling and place Sharr's account the first substantive investigation of the building and Heidegger's life there reminds us that in approaching Heidegger's writings it is important to consider the circumstances in which the philosopher as he himself said felt transported into the work's own rhythm Indeed Heidegger's apparent abdication of agency and tendency toward romanticism seem especially significant in light of his troubling involvement with the Nazi regime in the early 1930s Sharr draws on original research including interviews with Heidegger's relatives as well as on written accounts of the hut by Heidegger and his visitors The book's evocative photographs include scenic and architectural views taken by the author and many remarkable images of a septuagenarian Heidegger in the hut taken by the photojournalist Digne Meller Markovicz There are many ways to interpret Heidegger's hut as the site of heroic confrontation between philosopher and existence as the petit bourgeois escape of a misguided romantic as a place overshadowed by fascism or as an entirely unremarkable little building Heidegger's Hut does not argue for any one reading but guides readers toward their own possible interpretations of the importance of die Hütte

Dimensions, 2001 Dimensions is the annual student produced journal of architecture at the University of Michigan It seeks to contribute to the critical discourse of architectural education by documenting the most compelling work produced by its students faculty fellows and visiting lecturers American Book Publishing Record, 2000 The Architects' Journal, 1998 Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals Avery Library, 1997 Architecture, 2004 Total Living Maria Luisa Frisa, Mario Lupano, Stefano Tonchi, 2002 This book presents a psychotherapy intervention model called Multimodal Integrative Cognitive Stimulation Therapy MICST It is grounded in information processing and cognitive stimulation techniques and operates out of a positive psychology framework This model designed for group work with clients with schizophrenia can be easily tailored to working with clients in individual therapy sessions The three core MICST group activities include 1 body movement mindfulness relaxation BMR 2 cognitive stimulation using group discussions and 3 cognitive stimulation using paper pencil cognitive exercises and self reflection exercises A chapter is devoted to each of these core areas with actual case vignettes to illustrate ways that these activities can be implemented in clinical practice Homework recommendations are included at the end of each chapter devoted to a core MICST group activity and providing suggestions on ways to practice various skills and exercises in between group sessions Also provided are several handouts and worksheets which can be used with clients
