TITLE	Reactions of Aliphatic and Aromatic Hydrocarbons
OBJECTIVE	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. To study the chemical properties of an alkane, alkene and arene2. To differentiate an alkane from alkene and arene
THEORY	Hydrocarbons are organic compounds that contain only carbon and hydrogen. Alkanes which are also known as paraffins are saturated hydrocarbons. They do not contain double or triple bonds. Hence, alkanes are relatively inert to chemical reactions. Alkanes undergo free radical substitution reaction. Alkenes are unsaturated hydrocarbons, with at least one double bond between two carbon atoms. Alkenes can easily undergo addition reactions at the C=C bond. For example, alkenes undergo hydrogenation and halogenation to form alkanes and dihalides respectively. Alkenes can also react with potassium permanganate solution in two different conditions. Arenes are aromatic hydrocarbons with stable molecular structures. Although arenes have a very high degree of unsaturation, they are relatively inert towards all addition reactions except at very high pressure and temperature. Arenes undergo electrophilic aromatic substitution reactions in the presence of a Lewis acid catalyst.

CHEMISTRY EXPERIMENTS James Signorelli,2014-09-19 Gifted and talented students and any student interested in pursuing a science major in college needs a rigorous program to prepare them while they are still in high school This book utilizes a format where the application of several disciplines science math and language arts principles are mandated Each lab concludes with either an essay or a detailed analysis of what happened and why it happened This format is based on the expectations of joining a university program or becoming an industrial science professional The ideal student lab report would be written in a lab research notebook and then the essay or final analysis is done on a word processor to allow for repeat editing and corrections The research notebook has all graph pages a title section and a place for the students and their assistants to sign and witness that exercise The basic mechanics of the lab report title purpose procedure diagrams data table math and calculations observations and graphs are handwritten into the book The conclusion is done on a word processor MS Word which allows the instructor to guide the student in writing and editing a complete essay using the MLA format When the final copy is completed the essay is printed and inserted into the lab notebook for grading At the end of the term the student has all their labs in one place for future reference These lab notebooks can be obtained for as little as 3 00 per book This is money well spent In our district the Board of Education buys the books for each student The BOE sees these books as expendable but necessary materials for all science and engineering instruction Experiments in General Chemistry, Lab Manual Rupert Wentworth,Barbara H.
