Secondary Textbook Review ,1988 This book is intended as a resource for teachers and curriculum developers who select textbooks for secondary English courses It includes a compilation of 32 factual textbook reviews obtained from the application of a review instrument which was based on the California Model Curriculum Standards Grades Nine through Twelve English Language Arts and the English Language Arts Framework for California Public Schools Kindergarten through Grade Twelve The instrument described in the book was applied to selected English composition grammar and reading literature textbooks The book suggests that the resulting reviews can be used by teachers as a screening device to reduce the number of books they review and pilot studies they conduct thus educators will have more time to do in depth reviews of two or three textbooks which appear to match their course requirements and their students academic needs The book also states that the review instrument can be adapted by districts to reflect their own English objectives and test results Every review in the book includes two parts and a publisher s description which appears in the Appendix a section which depicts the extent to which the emphasis on content and process is given to each of the topics in the textbooks reviewed and a section which includes topics on content and processes which might be found only in teachers editions The book does not make assessments regarding the quality of the books reviewed but rather provides information which teachers may find useful in making quality judgments and selecting specific textbooks for English programs SR Text, Role and Context Ann M. Johns,1997-06-13 This text explores fundamental issues relating to student literacies and instructor roles and practices within academic contexts It offers a brief history of literacy theories and argues for socioliterate approaches to teaching and learning in which texts are viewed as primarily socially constructed Central to socioliteracy the concepts genre and discourse community are presented in detail The author argues for roles for literacy practitioners in which they and their students conduct research and are involved in joint pedagogical endeavors The final chapters are devoted to outlining how the views presented can be applied to a variety of classroom texts Core curricular design principles are outlined and three types of portfolio based academic literacy classrooms are described The American Educational Review ,1915 Foreign Language Education in Japan Sachiko Horiguchi,Yuki Imoto,Gregory S. Poole,2015-12-23 Language education is a highly contested arena within any nation and one that arouses an array of sentiments and identity conflicts What languages or what varieties of a language are to be taught and learned and how By whom for whom for what purposes and in what contexts Such questions concern not only policy makers but also teachers parents students as well as businesspeople politicians and other social actors For Japan a nation state with ideologies of national identity strongly tied to language these issues have long been of particular concern This volume presents the cacophony of voices in the field of language education in contemporary Japan with its focus on English language education It explores the complex and intricate relationships between the local and the global and more specifically the links between the levels of policy educational institutions classrooms and the individual In the much contested field of foreign language teaching in Japan this book takes the reader directly to the places that really matter With the help of expert guides in the fields of anthropology sociology and linguistics we are invited to join a vital discussion about the potentially revolutionary implications of the Japanese government's policy of teaching Japanese citizens to not only passively engage with written English texts but to actually use English as a means of global communication Robert Aspinall PhD Oxford Professor Faculty of Economics Department of Social Systems Shiga University Japan This insightful book about language education involves different disciplines using ethnographic methods Both native and non native speakers of Japanese or English collaboratively examine two different types of qualitative approaches in Japan the positivistic and the processual This is a must have book for researchers and educators of language who are interested in not only Japan but also language education generally Shinji Sato PhD Columbia Director of the Japanese Language Program Department of East Asian Studies Princeton University USA
