Urban Mobilities in the Global South Tanu Priya Uteng, Karen Lucas, 2017-11-27 The book considers urban mobilities and immobilities in the Global South through an exploration of the theoretical and methodological entry points that can be used to further the agenda of transport planning Transport system improvements can and do have complex and unequal impacts on different sectors of society Conventional approaches to analysing travel demand and transport system performance developed in the Global North are typically ill equipped to identify and understand the complexities and inequities in urban areas of the Global South Using case studies from urban Africa and Asia the book addresses the need to understand the lived world of mobilities and use this knowledge to address issues that are central to our urban existence in the 21st century

Urban Planning Challenges and Innovations in Sub-Saharan Africa Abubakari Ahmed, Millicent A. Akaateba, Bernard A. A. Akanbang, 2025-07-16 Urban planning practice in Sub Saharan Africa increasingly encounters complexities due to the confluence of urbanisation climate change and their interconnected drivers and consequences The potential effect of these complexities on achieving the sustainable development goals is significant This book explores the unique challenges faced by rapidly growing cities in Sub Saharan Africa including urban crime informality land governance development control and the degradation of green spaces as well as how these issues are addressed in planning education and emerging innovations The book presents various case studies from selected African countries emphasising contemporary urban challenges and innovative strategies including implementing artificial intelligence which is being adopted to tackle these issues Chapters analyse the significance of reflective planning hybrid governance international development and technological advancements in influencing the future trajectory of urban development planning By providing a comprehensive overview of these issues this book serves as a crucial resource for urban planners policymakers scholars and students dedicated to the sustainable development of cities in Sub Saharan Africa

Integrated Urban Water Management: Humid Tropics Jonathan N. Parkinson, Joel Avruch Goldenfum, Carlos Tucci, 2010-03-26 Excess water in the urban environment results in flooding which causes structural damage risks to personal safety and disruption to city life Water is also a major contributory factor for disease transmission as well as being the medium for transport of many pollutants These problems are of increasing concern due to climate changes and are parti

Transport Planning and Mobility in Urban East Africa Nadine Appelhans, Wolfgang Scholz, Sabine Baumgart, 2020-11-26 This book critically explores the relationship between mobility patterns transport provision and urban development in East African cities Bringing together contributions on the futures of mobility in urban

East Africa the chapters examine transport provision mobility patterns location specific modes of transport and transformative factors for transport and mobility in the rapidly urbanising region The book outlines different mobility needs to be addressed in transport planning to serve and shape the respective cities and examines the decision making process in transport planning and the level of accountability to the public The contributors show the dialectic between innovation in transport mobility and urban development under rapid urbanisation and discusses how to practically integrate mobility and transport provision into urban development This book will be of interest to scholars in urban planning transport planning transport geography social sciences and African studies Everyday Urban Practices in Africa Nadine Appelhans, Carmel Rawhani, Marie Huchzermeyer, Basirat Oyalowo, Mfaniseni Fana Sihlongonyane, 2024-08-14 This book disrupts the dominant underlying international norms informing urban development strategies across African cities International policy frameworks have created a new universal agenda for developing cities However these frameworks have also imposed global paradigms and discourses that are often in conflict with local urbanisms As we approach the deadline for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals there is need for reflection and deliberation on a post 2030 agenda The authors identify powerful assumptions norms and positionalities that obfuscate the efforts to achieve sustainable development in African cities as well as along the North South divide They argue that a disruptive critique of these normative concepts grounded in the lived African urban everyday opens up opportunities to dismantle their assumed neutrality Through disruption the authors critically re interpret the meanings of policy and the praxis of local urbanism ultimately challenging the logic of universalising concepts underpinning implementation in the current international policy system and asserting the need for contextualised urban policies The book will be of interest to scholars and students of urban studies development planning urban governance human settlements development studies urban geography and African studies It will also be useful for practitioners including town and regional urban planners urban policy consultants and international development cooperation agencies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license Integrated Urban Water Resources Management Petr Hlavinek, Tamara Kukharchyk, Jiri Marsalek, Ivana Mahrikova, 2006-04-18 Growing populations and rising standards of living exert stress on water supply and the quality of drinking water This book presents aspects of challenges in the management of urban water resources urban water supply urban drainage and water bodies wastewater treatment security and reuse The book presents expert opinions which indicate that the way to deal with the current urban water management dilemmas is by integrated management and innovative delivery of water services City Development Plans and Their Implementation Indian Institute of Public Administration. Open Space Planning in India Werner Y. Wolff,1990 This probably first specialized and comprehensive book on open space planning in a developing country is an empirical study Its interdisciplinary approach embraces planning and sociological perspectives The open space problem of cities is analysed on the background of the actual situation of urban planning and housing and of its organisational financial legal and social frames Key persons of both the camps of open space suppliers and users are interviewed A detailed commentary attempts to answer the question of how a satisfactory supply and maintenance of urban open space could be kept in the light of rising costs and decreasing finances resulting high densities and smaller houses and of the immense needs for basic shelter for at least a 100 million migrants and squatters expected alone for the four largest urban agglomerations within the next decades
