Acid Detergent Fiber Neutral Detergent Fiber:

Exogenous Enzymes as Feed Additives in Ruminants Abdelfattah Zeidan Mohamed Salem, Abubeker Hassen, Uchenna Y. Anele, 2023-07-04 This book addresses a global issue of increasing high quality food from ruminant animals while reducing their impacts on the environment. However, one of the main constraints to livestock development and the underlying cause of the low productivity in many developing countries is inadequate nutrition associated with inefficient utilization of forages and fibrous feed resources. In many countries, fibrous feed makes up the bulk of available feed resource base which is characterized by scarcity and fluctuating supply in the quantity and quality of feed resources, nutrient imbalance as seen in many native pastures, grasslands and crop residues based feeding systems with limited use of commercial concentrate feeds such as soybean, cottonseed and groundnut meals etc. Furthermore, the production of methane, an important greenhouse gas (GHG) from ruminants fed highly fibrous diets such as straws and stover is higher than those animals fed better quality forages or concentrate diets. Recent research shows that supplementing livestock diets with exogenous fibre degrading enzymes can improve feed utilization by enhancing intake, fibre degradation in the rumen and overall digestibility of fibrous feeds which in turn leads to improved animal performance, farmers' income and a reduction in GHG emissions. The book editors would like to acknowledge the Joint FAO/IAEA Division of Nuclear Techniques in Food and Agriculture for funding part of the studies that make up some of these chapters and were part of the final reports of a coordinated research project financed by IAEA.

Nutrient Requirements of Dairy Cattle National Research Council (U.S.). Subcommittee on Dairy Cattle Nutrition, 1988. Nutrient requirements and signs of deficiency. Special aspects of dairy cattle nutrition. Formulating rations. Prediction equations. Dry matter intake and nutrient requirements tables. Composition of feeds. Novel Ways and Methodologies to Improve Crop Yield Oorbessy Gaju, Miroslav Zoric, 2024-11-01. The global population is increasing at a much faster pace than an increase in the genetic gain for food production by plant breeding. Therefore, we must find ways or methods to improve our food production if we are to ensure food security for all. This special edition is about the novel ways or methodologies that crop or plant scientists are working on to improve crop yield. This could fall under the physiological, biochemical, molecular or even any novel technological approaches such as phenotyping to rapidly select or find traits that are vital for the improvement of current germplasm to make them resilient to an ever-changing environment. Crop yield, especially grain yield, is a very complex trait to deconvolute and understand as it is influenced by so many factors. With the recent unprecedented weather events where plants are subjected to extreme temperatures, low and high, it is imperative to find ways quickly to screen for varieties that can withstand these changes. Novel ways or methods in the various disciplines, physiology, molecular, phenotyping, biochemical, that can help to identify rapidly the traits related to yield in crops that can lead to an increase in productivity will be informative and help the scientific community to be up to date with recent progress.

Recent Advances in Agricultural Waste Recycling by Microorganisms and Their Symbiosis Xiang Wang, Pengfei Cheng, Shuhao Huo, Zhigang Yu, Qi Zhang, Cuixia Liu, 2025-07-30 Microorganisms such as microalgae bacteria and fungi exhibit characteristics of small size rapid growth reproduction rates and strong adaptability They hold immense potential in the utilization of by products from agricultural and food processing also the harmless treatment and resource utilization of waste materials like biogas slurry and brewery wastewater Additionally they offer possibilities for producing high value added compounds and products such as lipids proteins polysaccharides and prebiotics during waste recycling However challenges persist in achieving efficient cultivation cost effective biomass harvesting and the low cost extraction of high value added compounds Moreover there is a need for in depth research into the metabolic regulation mechanisms of microorganisms concerning different treatment substrates and the targeted synthesis of diverse high value added compounds Specifically understanding the synergistic interactions among multiple microorganisms for enhanced substance utilization and the precise mechanisms underlying the production of high value added compounds requires further investigation
