Telling Stories In School Using Case Studies And:

Caring for Families in Court Barbara A. Babb, Judith D. Moran, 2019-01-15 In many US courts and internationally family law cases constitute almost half of the trial caseload. These matters include child abuse and neglect and juvenile delinquency as well as divorce, custody, paternity and other traditional family law issues. In this book the authors argue that reforms to the family justice system are necessary to enable it to assist families and children effectively. The authors propose an approach that envisions the family court as a care center by blending existing theories surrounding court reform in family law with an ethic of care and narrative practice. Building on conceptual, procedural and structural reforms of the past several decades, the authors define the concept of a unified family court created along interdisciplinary lines, a paradigm that is particularly well suited to inform the work of family courts. These prior reforms have contributed to enhancing the family justice system as courts now can shape comprehensive outcomes designed to improve the lives of families and children by taking into account both their legal and non-legal needs. In doing so, courts can utilize each family's story as a foundation to fashion a resolution of their unique issues. In the book, the authors aim to strengthen a court's problem-solving capabilities by discussing how incorporating an ethic of care and appreciating the family narrative can add to the court's effectiveness in responding to families and children. Creating the court as a care center, the authors conclude, should lie at the heart of how a family justice system operates. The authors are well-known figures in the area and have been involved in family court reform on both a US national and an international scale for many years. Creating Culturally Considerate Schools Kim L.

Anderson, Bonnie M. Davis, 2012-07-10 Are you seeing your students clearly? This unique collaboration between a veteran educator and a psychotherapist shows that the educators who are most effective in teaching diverse student populations are the ones who can see students clearly and respond to their needs without hesitation or bias. Framed around an original eight-stage model of diversity development, this book provides readers with essential tools for building a sturdy foundation of mutual respect upon which schools without bias can be constructed. Included are specific strategies for creating a school environment that gives voice and consideration to all students. Shows interest, empathy and respect for all staff members. Advocates respect and reverence of individuality. Adapts innovative policies despite resistance that best serve the total school community. In addition to vignettes, anecdotes and case examples, the authors provide worksheets for problem-solving, conflict resolution, clear communication, rules of engagement, reflection and scenario study. This book will help educators boost student achievement by giving them how-to strategies that work across content areas to create a culturally considerate classroom and school climate that supports student success and reinforces the strength of individual teachers, administrators and auxiliary personnel. Case Studies and Projects in Communication Neil McKeown, 2005-08-12 First Published in
