

Capture Planning is the process of identifying opportunities, assessing the attractiveness, and planning and implementing winning strategies intended toward capturing a specific business opportunity. Commonly associated capture-planning means include: bid- or contract-capture plans.

Use the Overview and Action, Proposed Goals.

Lead sales and marketing relevant areas that will be portions of the total marketing efforts where they would prefer to buy from better prospects are identified.

The use of capture planning is intended: the intention is gain a competitive and cost advantage in the purchase of products, or to at least gain a tie position with most organizations prior to purchase being initiated.

The capture capture planning originated in the field of organizations that were primarily non-profit large U.S. Government or Federal organizations.

Commonly associated organizations pursuing large, complex opportunities were: (primarily) student athletes or elite athletic disciplines. Both were pursuing complex opportunities with the following characteristics:

- High value
- Highly competitive, multiple people vying for purchase decisions
- Long sales cycle, considerable costs

Some commercial organizations in the local capture plan and contract plan categories, however, many assume plans are not appropriate specific and may thereby affect the organization's internal objectives setting process.

Use the Overview and Action, Proposed Goals.

Capture Planning

1. Implement a capture planning discipline to capture new business more efficiently.
2. Enhance capture planning effectiveness by defining activities and capture plans.
3. Select a compatible, mutually beneficial and complementary or add-on/off technology, service, offer, and capture capture plan to your organization.
4. Map the process dynamics, needs, resources, and costs.
5. Maintain a balance between planning and execution.
6. Compare the Independent Customer Behavior Model and the Sales Comparison Chart used when time is short.
7. Gain and increase senior management approval and support.
8. Choose the right people to the capture team.
9. Design specific, measurable objectives, activities, and completion dates for different department managers by name.
10. Establish regular reviews and assess to determine whether an activity is the opportunity for the next phase or end the pursuit.
11. Schedule sales team reviews to improve the capture—attention is captured plan, strategy, process, or underlying process.
12. Use the capture plan to complete the process planning process.
