Discourse in Organizations and Workplaces

Britt-Louise Gunnarsson

This chapter focuses on discourse in organizations and workplaces and will discuss a number of studies which explore the complexity and diversity of communication in modern working life. With a theoretical orientation towards sociology, organization/network theory and social constructivism, researchers have sketched the macro-frames which influence discourse at various levels within organizations. Studies of the correspondence between organizational structure and discourse will be used as a background for presentations of analyses which try to grasp and understand communication in the modern organization from different viewpoints and with a focus on different problem areas. The theoretical and methodological perspectives of these analyses include textlinguistics, ethnography, critical discourse analysis, interactional sociolinguistics and conversation analysis.

A relevant question for our understanding of modern working life is related to the effects of technological advance and globalization. The conditions for professional discourse have been influenced by a series of changes taking place in recent decades. Technological advances have facilitated a globalization of working life, while lifelong learning, flexibility, mobility and diversity have come to be key values in the global economy. In organizations throughout the world, we find a widespread use of technology and increased reliance on the internet for internal and external communication. Another striking feature, made possible of course by the technological advances, is the globalization of the business world and the job market. Throughout the world, we find transnational companies which use English as their corporate language and employ multilingual people who can move between jobs, between branches and between countries. The workforce mobility and workplace diversity which characterize a globalized economy also raise issues of multilingualism and multiculturalism to the surface, both in relation to the organization as a whole and to workplace practices. For employees this new situation has come to entail different and higher demands for literacy and communicative skills.

The purpose of this chapter is to deepen our understanding of the discourse-related problems facing managers and employees in the globalized economy. In the various sections of the chapter I discuss these problems from different viewpoints. First, I explore the correspondence between organizational structure and discourse at a more general level, where I use examples from analysis of small

Enjoying the Track of Appearance: An Emotional Symphony within Chapter 7 Discourse In Organizations And Workplaces

In some sort of consumed by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of instant connection, the melodic beauty and emotional symphony produced by the prepared term usually disappear in to the background, eclipsed by the constant noise and disruptions that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, situated within the pages of Chapter 7 Discourse In Organizations And Workplaces an enchanting fictional prize filled with fresh thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by an elegant composer of language, this captivating masterpiece conducts readers on a psychological trip, well unraveling the concealed tunes and profound affect resonating within each cautiously constructed phrase. Within the depths of the emotional examination, we shall discover the book is main harmonies, analyze its enthralling publishing fashion, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
