Ethics In Peacekeeping Peace Operations Training Institute:

Conflict and Peace in Western Sahara János Besenyő, R. Joseph Huddleston, Yahia H. Zoubir, 2022-12-26 This book offers the first comprehensive analysis of MINURSO the United Nations Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara focused on its activities composition purpose and operational future in Western Sahara the world's last colony The book's focus is broad examining MINURSO from key historical legal military and political angles whilst assessing the future of UN peacekeeping missions in the Western Sahara Supported by a diverse international mix of perspectives and professions including academics lawyers soldiers and humanitarian aid workers an in depth view of MINURSO is provided rooted in practical Western Saharan field experience The authors reveal the complexities of the region and of the mission locally but also analyze MINURSO through a global lens focusing on relations with the United States China Russia France and African states This approach emphasizes the importance of the region as a site of international struggle while remaining conscious of local contexts A landmark contribution to peacekeeping studies the book is vital reading for practitioners and academics focused on the Western Saharan conflict and the MENA region but will also be of interest to those engaged in international relations international law and security studies

NATO and Peace Support Operations, 1991-1999 Henning Frantzen, 2004-12-17 This new book addresses the key question of how NATO and three of its member states are configuring their policies and military doctrines in order to handle the new strategic environment This environment is increasingly dominated by new wars more precisely civil wars within states and peacekeeping as the strategy devised by outside actors for dealing with them The book seeks to explain how this new strategic environment has been interpreted and how the new conflicts and peacekeeping have been fitted into defence and war key concepts in the field of security studies

Challenges of Peace Operations, 2002 This report is the product of a series of seminars held during the past five years in nine countries around the world The seminars were attended by a wide range of highly experienced civilian and military peacekeepers and academics from some 230 organizations and 50 countries The aim of the project has been to bring to bear in an informal and collegial setting the collective knowledge and views of participants on the challenges of peace operations as the world enters the 21st century The concluding report has been written with the following objectives to make practical recommendations in order to enhance the international capability to conduct multi national and multidisciplinary peace operations to inform on current developments on principal issues in contemporary peace operations and to contribute to maintaining the current momentum for enhancing the effectiveness and legitimacy of international peace operations as generated by the Brahimi Report and other related initiatives P 4 of cover

Oil and Terrorism in the New Gulf James J.F. Forest, Matthew V. Sousa, 2006-03-07 Oil and Terrorism in the New Gulf examines the national security implications of U S energy security policies in the Middle East and the emerging U S involvement in oil exploration and extraction in West Africa Similar political social and economic challenges _poverty corruption lack of infrastructure and weak governments_ are seen in the oil producing states of both the Middle East and Africa Drawing comparisons between these two regions allows Forest and Sousa to formulate policy recommendations for how to handle foreign policy toward Africa in the future based on lessons learned from past interaction with the Middle East Oil and Terrorism in the New Gulf promises to inform a lively debate over the future of U S foreign policies toward Africa and is a valuable resource for policymakers and the academic community that should be approached in a coherent integrated fashion to ensure the success of the United States energy and national security agendas

Ethnographic Peace Research Gearoid Millar, 2017-11-24 This volume calls for an empirical extension of the local turn within peace research Building on insights from conflict transformation gender studies critical International Relations and Anthropology the contributions critique existing peace research methods as affirming unequal power marginalizing local communities and stripping the peace kept of substantive agency and voice By incorporating scholars from these various fields the volume pushes for more locally grounded ethnographic and potentially participatory approaches While recognizing that any Ethnographic Peace Research EPR agenda must incorporate a variety of methodologies the volume nonetheless paves a clear path for the much needed empirical turn within the local turn literature

Forces for Good Lorraine M. Elliott, Graeme Cheeseman, 2004 This book explores how governments militaries and institutions respond to cosmopolitan debates about solidarity and the use of force to defend distant strangers against tyranny and the abuse of human rights In a series of case studies the book explores the normative political and operational consequences for military forces of the proposition that they can and perhaps should be used in pursuit of cosmopolitan values and objectives

Measuring what Matters in Peace Operations & Crisis Management Sarah Jane Meharg, 2009 The international community has become increasingly interested in measuring the effectiveness of its activities in war affected environments This interest is partially motivated by a need to calculate the costs of these very expensive ventures and partially by the recognition that activities have not always been successful While stakeholders are interested in measuring the effectiveness of their work in places like Afghanistan they may be reticent to discover that their military policing and humanitarian activities are ineffectual or worse have had negative effects on recipient populations recovering from armed conflicts Sarah Jane Meharg analyses why various mechanisms results based management measures of effectiveness log frames essential task matrices are used in attempts to reduce complex intervention activities to simple success stories She argues that the stakeholders involved could benefit from a deeper understanding of the theories concepts philosophies and assumptions of other stakeholders in the peace operations and crisis management environment She suggests ways to achieve this understanding through the strategic exercise of measuring effectiveness in relation to organizational requirements and recipient population s priorities in post conflict societies Measuring What Matters in Peace Operations and Crisis Management provides policy advice on stakeholder approaches and advances the thinking on measuring progress in general
