

Experimental Variables

What is measured during a controlled experiment?

Why?

When scientists set out to do an experiment, they first think about the variables that may affect the outcome of the experiment. A variable is any condition that may cause a change in the system being studied. Some variables are measured quantitatively, like temperature, mass or height. Other variables are recorded in a qualitative manner, like color, texture or species. The most important factor is that the scientist runs a controlled experiment. In a controlled experiment, only one variable is changed to ensure that the effect of only that one variable can be measured.
