Transforming Global Health Korydon H. Smith, Pavani Kalluri Ram, 2020-02-05 This contributed volume motivates and educates across fields about the major challenges in global health and the interdisciplinary strategies for solving them. Once the purview of public health, medicine and nursing, global health is now an interdisciplinary endeavor that relies on expertise from anthropology to urban planning, economics to political science, geography to engineering. Scholars and practitioners in the health sciences are seeking knowledge from a wider array of fields while simultaneously students across majors have a growing interest in humanitarian issues and are pursuing knowledge and skills for impacting well being across geographic and disciplinary borders. Using a highly practical approach and illustrative case studies, each chapter of this edited volume frames a particular problem and illustrates how interdisciplinary problem solving can address the greatest challenges in global health today. In doing so, each chapter spurs critical and creative thinking about emergent and future problems. Topics explored among the chapters include transforming health and well being for refugees and their communities, governing to deliver safe and affordable water, the global crisis of antimicrobial resistance, low tech high impact interventions to prevent neonatal mortality, communicating taboo health subjects, alternative housing delivery for slum upgrades. Transforming Global Health: Interdisciplinary Challenges, Perspectives and Strategies is a vital and timely compendium for any reader invested in improving global health equity.
