Lucian Blaga Humanitas:

Literary Translation and the Idea of a Minor Romania Sean Cotter, 2014 Examines translations by canonical Romanian writers Lucian Blaga Constantin Noica and Emil Cioran arguing that their works reveal a new minor mode of national identity

Women's Life Writing in Post-Communist Romania Simona Mitroiu, 2022-11-07 This book analyzes the impact of abusive regimes of power on women's lives and on their self-expression through close readings of life writing by women in communist Romania. In particular, it examines the forms of agency and privacy available to women under totalitarianism and the modes of relationships in which their lives were embedded. The self-expression and self-reflexive processes that are to be found in the body of Romanian women's autobiographical writings in this study present complex private narratives that underpin the creative development of inclusive memories of the past through shared responsibility and shared agency. At the same time, however, the way these private personal narratives intertwined with collective and official historical narratives exemplifies the multidimensional nature of privacy as well as the radical redefinition of agency in this period. This book argues for a broader understanding of the narratives of the communist past, one that reflects the complexity of individual and social interactions and allows a deep exploration of the interconnected relations between memory, trauma, nostalgia, agency, and privacy.

Romanian Literature as World Literature Mircea Martin, Christian Moraru, Andrei Terian, 2017-12-28 Approaching Romanian literature as world literature, this book is a critical theoretical manifesto that places its object at the crossroads of empires, regions, and influences and draws conclusions whose relevance extends beyond the Romanian Romance and East European cultural systems. This intersectional revisiting of Romanian literature is organized into three parts. Opening with a fresh look at the literary ideology of Romania's national poet Mihai Eminescu, part I dwells primarily on literary-cultural history as process and discipline. Here the focus is on cross-cultural mimesis, the role of strategic imitation in the production of a distinct literature in modern Romania, and the shortcomings marking traditional literary historiography's handling of these issues. Part II examines the ethno-linguistic and territorial complexity of Romanian literatures or Romanian literature in the plural. Part III takes up the trans-systemic rise of Romanian Jewish, Romanian, and Romanian-European avant-garde and modernism, Socialist Realism, exile, and migratory literature and translation.

Romania since the Second World War Florin Abraham, 2016-11-17 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title 2017 Romania since the Second World War is the first book about Romania designed to chart the progress of the nation under the communist regime as well as the transition period that followed, providing detailed analysis of the aspects of continuity and change that can be identified over the period as a whole. The book begins with Romania's involvement in the Second World War, looking at the communist regime in depth. It examines how communism took hold and the elimination of traditional elites took place before discussing the impact of Gheorghiu-Dej and Nicolae Ceaușescu, the two most important leaders of the communist era. The following chapters cover the main social and economic changes during the communist regime. The second part of the book explores the transition period following the end of communism in 1989 with special attention given to international relations and Romania's drive for inclusion in NATO and the EU Romania since the Second World War assesses socio-demographic trends across the postwar period before concluding with some thoughts on the nation's development during this time The book includes a useful appendix covering the key figures in Romania's recent history and a helpful bibliography making this a key text for anyone interested in the modern history of Eastern Europe

National Identity of Romanians in Transylvania Sorin Mitu, 2001-07 Arguing that the study of the emergence of national identity is often solely related to the notion that people discover that they extend over a region Mitu history Babes Bolyai U Romania argues that a proper study would also look at the questions of what people perceive characterizes their national identity To that end he looks at the self-perception of the Romanians in Transylvania as it emerged at the beginning of the modern era He finds that the emergence of the Romanian national identity during the revolutions of 1821 and 1848 is analogous to the process that the French and American revolutions had on the rise of national identity in their respective societies Looking at such historical works as Petru Maior's History and Budai Deleanu's Gypsyiad he explores the common clichés in the texts that conditioned the self-perception of identity
