objects range from portable artefacts to installations within sites to monumental structures in the landscape all of which were interwoven with people s bodies in the experiences of daily life and special performances More specifically it is argued that these powerful aesthetic objects were actively used by people across space and time to perceive the world around them and to reproduce their social lives They helped people to establish personal and collective boundaries identities and relationships to acquire and exercise power to promote ideologies and to contest them especially at time of social tension

   Putting People in the Picture Naydene De Lange,Claudia Mitchell,Jean Stuart,2007 Getting the picture constructing and deconstructing the picture finding the picture viewing the picture being in the picture changing the pictures these are all phrases that apply to the fascinating world of putting people in the picture in visual research within the Social Sciences Putting People in the Picture Visual Methodologies for Social Change focuses on the ways in which researchers practitioners and activists are using such techniques as photo voice collaborative video drawings and other visual and arts based tools as modes of inquiry as modes of representation and as modes of disseminating findings in social research The various chapters address methodological analytical interpretive aesthetic technical and ethical concerns in using visual methodologies in work with young people teachers community health care workers and even the self as researcher The range of issues addressed in the work is broad and includes work in the areas of HIV AIDS schooling poverty gender violence race and children s visions for the future While the studies are situated within a variety of social contexts the focus is primarily on work in Southern Africa The book takes up some of the theoretical and practical challenges offered by Visual Sociology Image based Research Media Studies Rural Development and Community based and Participatory Research and in so doing offers audiences an array of visual approaches to studying and bringing about social change   The Old World Journey Eva Zetterberg Pettersson,2005   Visual Culture and Tourism David Crouch,Nina Lübbren,2003-05 From postcards paintings to photography film tourism visual culture have a longstanding history of mutual entanglement This book explores the complex association between tourism visual culture throughout history across cultures   The Visual Rhetoric of the Family Photo Martine Courant Rife,2005   Seeing Things Stephen Pattison,2007 Gifford Lectures series 2007 Seeing Things is a highly original book that will have appeal across humanity departments including visual studies theology art history sociology anthropology and ethics The book considers in detail the experience of perceiving visual objects from high art to everyday artefacts It looks in particular at the problems encountered with the ways we in Western culture look upon the world and things and encourages and argues for ways to look and visualise the world more critically broadly and widely Sight is one of the main ways we perceive and relate to the world and yet it is mostly assumed rather than actively reflected on Objects designated as art and the realm of aesthetics attract some active attention and reflection but most of the visible world is ignored in the context of what Pattison describes as our ordinary blindness TM The book argues that the range of things we choose to see and value is arbitrary and limited and the ways in which we relate to things and objects are mostly crude and un nuanced Pattison argues that it is desirable to consider more person like relationships with all manner of visibly perceived objects from classical sculptures to tennis rackets If we begin to apply this person like relationship with things we transgress the Western secular and religious practice and belief that maintains that the realm of the manufactured is dead TM and so can be treated by humans exactly as they wish without consideration Pattison argues that this person like relationship does not mean re animating or re sacramentalising the world rather he argues for observation and exploration of the actual phenomenology of the object
