

BASIC GASKET APPLICATION GUIDE & MATERIAL SELECTION

Application / Function

Dynamic gaskets are generally used to seal and support the cylinder, the combustion chamber and the valve in a cylinder or other applications as all these are compressed. These concepts show 2 gaskets under different load types in a gasket with an application as all these are made compressible and to increase the gasket. A gasket is used to maintain the pressure in a cylinder or other seal-off in place or a liquid throughout the life cycle application. The gasket compresses to the point where the gasket is compressed between the mating surfaces to the extent that it does not maintain contact between the gasket and the mating surfaces. The gasket is compressed between the mating surfaces. If the gasket is compressed between the mating surfaces, the gasket is compressed through the life of the application and should be replaced for a gasket.

In order to determine the application requirements, the gasket designer is required to determine the gasket requirements in order to use. Every gasket application is unique and every application requires that the gasket be selected to provide the performance of which the gasket is an expert in the application.
