Construction Dispute Research Sai On Cheung, 2014-07-08 There are three specific purposes of Construction Dispute Research First this volume aims to summarise studies on construction dispute Second apart from the theoretical constructs where appropriate empirical tests are also included This approach serves to go beyond the commonly used anecdotal approach for the subject matters Third it is the sincere hope of the authors that this book will help shaping research agenda of construction dispute The studies are mostly framed from a management perspective drawing on methods and concepts in contract law economics psychology and management science The book has twenty chapters that are arranged in four parts covering conceptualisation avoidance negotiation and mediation Part 1 is devoted for dispute conceptualisation A building is only as strong as its foundation Thus it is no better start to study construction dispute by conceptualisation The theme of Part 2 is dispute avoidance The conventional wisdom of prevention is better than cure seems can be applied to all problems As far as construction dispute is concerned equitable risk allocation and trust are the two most commonly accepted avoidance strategies Part 3 focuses on negotiation that is the gateway to resolution as almost all disputes are negotiated first before the service of other mechanisms Negotiation is sometimes described as an art because settlement may not be obtained solely from legal and rational approaches Part 3 discusses the behavioral dimensions of construction dispute negotiation Part 4 deals with Mediation a form of assisted negotiation Specially the skill of the mediators in facilitating settlement the interrelationships among dispute sources mediator tactics and mediation outcomes are explored The studies presented in Construction Dispute Research collectively demonstrate holistic approach in dispute management Each chapter can be read as a study on its own Practitioners will find the book a handy reference in dispute management and resolution Students would find the book useful in explaining in details the causes of dispute the processes to resolve them The research design and empirical approaches are particularly useful to students in construction management architectural surveying and civil engineering programs

The Impact of Emotional Support in Managing Cardiovascular Diseases among Hispanic and Non -Hispanic Menopausal Women Aged 55 to 84 years Claudette Andrea, 2014-05-27 Contrary to the perception of women that heart disease is a disease that will only strike men heart disease was also the number one killer

among women as of 2000 Beattie 2000 After the age of 50 nearly half of all women s deaths were due to cardiovascular disease CVD Beattie 2000 CVD has been the leading cause of death among women in the United States accounting for half a million deaths and 2 5 million hospitalizations annually Deaton 2000 Women who belong to ethnic minority groups have exhibited CVD risk factors to a greater extent than Caucasian women Juarbe 1998 Many researchers have found greater prevalence of high blood pressure physical inactivity excess weight and diabetes in African American women than in Caucasian women Fleury 2000 Even fewer researchers have examined CVD risk factors among Hispanic Americans who constituted 11% of the population in the United States in 2002 Eyler Vest Sanderson Wibur 2002 More researchers must conduct studies regarding the risks of heart disease in Hispanic women It is important to note that there is a deep connection between a person s emotions nervous system endocrine system and immune system Cohen 2004 There was a link demonstrated in the literature between the availability of emotional support and the direct health outcomes produced Eyler et al 2002 As a result this study was intended to investigate the impact of emotional support from friends family and medical professionals in helping to deal with CVD in Hispanic and non Hispanic menopausal women The chapter begins with the background of the problem problem statement and significance of the study The chapter will include the research questions that guided the study and a short definition of the main terms The theoretical framework for the study is also a part of the content with further discussion provided in the literature review These sections establish the practical goals for the study and illustrate the need for continued CVD management research in the field of health
