SUPER-RESOLUTION VIDEO ANALYSIS FOR FORENSIC INVESTIGATIONS

Ashish Gehani and John Reif

Abstract Super-resolution algorithms typically improve the resolution of a video frame by mapping and performing signal processing operations on data from frames immediately preceding and immediately following the frame of interest. However, these algorithms ignore forensic considerations. In particular, the high-resolution video evidence they produce could be challenged on the grounds that it incorporates data or artifacts that were not present in the original recording.

This paper presents a super-resolution algorithm that differs from its counterparts in two important respects. First, it is explicitly parameterized, enabling forensic video analysts to tune it to yield higher quality in regions of interest at the cost of degraded quality in other regions. Second, the higher resolution output is only constructed in the final visualization step. This allows the intermediate refinement step to be repeatedly composed without tainting the original data.

Keywords: Video recordings, super-resolution analysis, parameterization

1. Introduction

Surveillance cameras are ubiquitous – monitoring potential interlopers, vehicular traffic and pedestrians, ATM users, and shoppers at stores. When a crime occurs, the recorded footage is often used to identify the perpetrator, the location of the incident and the sequence of events that transpired. Meanwhile, video cameras are commonly embedded in mobile devices such as cell phones and PDAs, enabling users to opportunistically produce recordings of incidents that may subsequently serve as evidence in legal proceedings.

Obviously, the better the quality of a video recording, the greater its value to an investigation and subsequent legal proceedings. However, for a variety of reasons, including lighting, camera features, distance,
