The Everyday Edited By Stephen Johnstone:

Tokyo Vernacular Jordan Sand, 2013-07-19 Preserved buildings and historic districts museums and reconstructions have become an important part of the landscape of cities around the world Beginning in the 1970s Tokyo participated in this trend However repeated destruction and rapid redevelopment left the city with little building stock of recognized historical value Late twentieth century Tokyo thus presents an illuminating case of the emergence of a new sense of history in the city s physical environment since it required both a shift in perceptions of value and a search for history in the margins and interstices of a rapidly modernizing cityscape Scholarship to date has tended to view historicism in the postindustrial context as either a genuine response to loss or as a cynical commodification of the past The historical process of Tokyo s historicization suggests other interpretations Moving from the politics of the public square to the invention of neighborhood community to oddities found and appropriated in the streets to the consecration of everyday scenes and artifacts as heritage in museums Tokyo Vernacular traces the rediscovery of the past sometimes in unlikely forms in a city with few traditional landmarks Tokyo s rediscovered past was mobilized as part of a new politics of the everyday after the failure of mass politics in the 1960s Rather than conceiving the city as national center and claiming public space as national citizens the post 1960s generation came to value the local places and things that embodied the vernacular language of the city and to seek what could be claimed as common property outside the spaces of corporate capitalism and the state

Transformations in Social Science Research Methods during the COVID-19 Pandemic J. Michael Ryan, Valerie Visanich, Gaspar Brändle, 2024-07-11 This volume explores how researchers made innovative use of online technologies to innovate define and transform research methodologies in light of the varying impacts of the COVID 19 pandemic especially those related to the ability to conduct qualitative research The onset of the COVID 19 pandemic resulted in a radical shift in the way that people all over the world were have been able to live work study and conduct their daily lives Academics and other professionals who routinely engage in research were no exception The sudden continued and uneven need for health mandates calling for physical distancing added a particular layer of complexity for those who used research methods that typically required face to face interactions Continued technological developments associated with the Internet had already given rise to ongoing debates on innovative methodological thinking and practices The COVID 19 pandemic has further accentuated how indispensable the internet has become for the private and public lives of those with access to it including for their employment education leisure and social interactions For those fortunate enough to have access to them communication software such as Zoom and Google Meet have also become indispensable digital resources for researchers seeking to continue conducting research during lockdowns and quarantines and beyond More than ever researchers are finding it useful even necessary to equip themselves with online research tools in order to be able to continue conducting their fieldwork Drawing on research and case studies from around the world this volume serves as a guidebook for those interested in attuning their own research methods to a world still struggling to grapple with the impacts of the COVID 19 pandemic

The Market Natasha Degen, 2013 Drawing on a wide range of interdisciplinary sources in dialogue with artists writings this anthology traces the historic origins of these debates in different versions of modernism and surveys the relationship between art value and price the evolution and influence of patronage the actors and institutions of the art market and the diversity of artistic practices that either criticise or embrace the condition of the contemporary market

Exhibition Lucy Steeds, 2014 This anthology provides a multivocal critique of exhibitions of contemporary art bringing together the writings of artists curators and theorists Collectively these diverse perspectives are united by the notion that if the focus for modernist discussion was individual works of art it is the exhibition that is the prime cultural carrier of contemporaneity The texts encompass exhibition design and form exhibitions that are object based live or discursive projects that no longer rely on a physical space to be visited in person artists responses to being curated and their reflections on the potential of acting curatorially Set against the rise of the curator as an influential force in the contemporary art world this volume underlines the crucial role of artists in questioning and shaping the phenomenon of the exhibition

Documentary Julian Stallabrass, 2013 Part of the acclaimed Documents of Contemporary Art series of anthologies Documentary has undergone a marked revival in recent art following a long period in which it was a denigrated and unfashionable practice This has in part been led by the exhibition of photographic and video work on political issues at Documenta and numerous biennials and since the turn of the century issues of injustice violence and trauma in increasing zones of conflict Aesthetically documentary is now one of the most prominent modes of art making in part assisted by the linked transformation and recuperation of photography and video by the gallery and museum world Unsurprisingly this development along with the close attention paid to photojournalism and mainstream documentary making in a time of crisis has been accompanied by a rich strain of theoretical and historical writing on documentary This anthology provides a definitive historical context for documentary exploring its roots in modernism and its critique under postmodernism it surveys current theoretical thinking about documentary and it examines a wide range of work by artists within around or against documentary through their own writings and interviews Artists surveyed include Kutlug Ataman Ursula Biemann Hasan Elahi Harun Farocki Omer Fast Joan Fontcuberta Regina Jos Galindo David Goldblatt Alfredo Jaar Emily Jacir Lisa F Jackson Philip Jones Griffiths An My Le Renzo Martens Boris Mikhailov Daido Moriyama Walid Raad Michael Schmidt and Sean Snyder Writers include James Agee Ariella Azoulay Walter Benjamin Adam Broomberg Judith Butler Oliver Chanarin Georges Didi Huberman John Grierson David Levi Strauss Elizabeth McCausland
