Drop Heating and Evaporation: Analytical Solutions in Curvilinear Coordinate Systems Gianpietro Elvio Cossali,Simona Tonini,2020-06-30 This book describes analytical methods for modelling drop evaporation providing the mathematical tools needed in order to generalise transport and constitutive equations and to find analytical solutions in curvilinear coordinate systems Transport phenomena in gas mixtures are treated in considerable detail and the basics of differential geometry are introduced in order to describe interface related transport phenomena One chapter is solely devoted to the description of sixteen different orthogonal curvilinear coordinate systems reporting explicitly on the forms of their differential operators gradient divergent curl Laplacian and transformation matrices The book is intended to guide the reader from mathematics to physical descriptions and ultimately to engineering applications in order to demonstrate the effectiveness of applied mathematics when properly adapted to the real world Though the book primarily addresses the needs of engineering researchers it will also benefit graduate students

Statistical Thermodynamics M. C. Gupta,1990 Develops the theory of the thermodynamic behavior of macroscopic systems in terms of their atoms or molecules and describes some of its applications in detail with illustrative examples The first part provides background information Part Two presents the two main approaches to the subject the study of independent particles in an isolated system which applies to simple systems and the more powerful approach based on the concept of ensembles describing how the system of independent particles may be used to calculate thermodynamic properties from the values of molecular parameters obtained via quantum theory The third part gives details of seven classes of applications Contains many examples and problems
