Jain, M.C. Kharkwal, 2012-12-06 The Indian Society of Genetics and Plant Breeding was established in 1941 in recognition of the growing contribution of improved crop varieties to the country s agriculture Scientific plant breeding had started in India soon after the rediscovery of Mendel s laws of heredity The Indian Agricultural Research Institute set up in 1905 and a number of Agricultural Colleges in different parts of the country carried out some of the earliest work mostly in the form of pure line selections In subsequent years hybridization programmes in crops like wheat rice oilseeds grain legumes sugarcane and cotton yielded a large number of improved cultivars with significantly higher yields A turning point came in the 1960s with the development of hybrids in several crops including inter specific hybrids in cotton And when new germplasm with dwarfing genes became available in wheat and rice from CIMMYT and IRRI respectively Indian plant breeders quickly incorporated these genes into the genetic background of the country's widely grown varieties with excellent grain quality and other desirable traits. This was to mark the beginning of modern agriculture in India as more and more varieties were developed characterized by a high harvest index and response to modern farm inputs like the inorganic fertilizers. India's green revolution which has led to major surpluses of food grains and other commodities like sugar and cotton has been made possible by the work of one of the largest groups of plant breeders working in a coordinated network.

Genetic Diversity in Plants Mahmut Caliskan, 2012-03-14
 Genetic diversity is of fundamental importance in the continuity of a species as it provides the necessary adaptation to the prevailing biotic and abiotic environmental conditions and enables change in the genetic composition to cope with changes in the environment. Genetic Diversity in Plants presents chapters revealing the magnitude of genetic variation existing in plant populations. The increasing availability of PCR based molecular markers allows the detailed analyses and evaluation of genetic diversity in plants and also the detection of genes influencing economically important traits. The purpose of the book is to provide a glimpse into the dynamic process of genetic variation by presenting the thoughts of scientists who are engaged in the generation of new ideas and techniques employed for the assessment of genetic diversity often from very different perspectives. The book should prove useful to students, researchers and experts in the area of conservation biology, genetic diversity and molecular biology.
