Introduction

Are you ever disappointed, being there, questions to which

- Why something, however, and always physical properties?
- Why are something, however, always chemical properties?

What Are Physical Properties?

Start with the fact that the colour of an object is a characteristic property of that certain substance.

If physical properties of a substance can be observed without changing the identity of the substance, observed the properties of an object can be its colour, the shape, size or weight, etc. called the physical of an object are determined by the properties of the substance the object consists of.

Many of the physical properties of materials that make up objects can be measured. These properties include density, hardness, magnetism, and the ability to conduct heat and electricity.

Some physical properties depend on how much of a material you have. In other words, a large amount of a material may have different properties than a smaller amount of the material. Other physical properties do not depend on how much of the material you have. They show that no matter how large or small something is, something is the same physical property is always the same.
