My Year of Meats Ruth Ozeki, 1999-03-01 A cross cultural tale of two women brought together by the intersections of television and industrial agriculture fertility and motherhood life and love the breakout hit by the celebrated author of A Tale for the Time Being and The Book of Form and Emptiness Ruth Ozeki's mesmerizing debut novel has captivated readers and reviewers worldwide When documentarian Jane Takagi Little finally lands a job producing a Japanese television show that just happens to be sponsored by an American meat exporting business she uncovers some unsavory truths about love fertility and a dangerous hormone called DES Soon she will also cross paths with Akiko Ueno a beleaguered Japanese housewife struggling to escape her overbearing husband Hailed by USA Today as rare and provocative and awarded the Kirayama Prize for Literature of the Pacific Rim My Year of Meats is a modern day take on Upton Sinclair's The Jungle for fans of Michael Pollan Margaret Atwood and Barbara Kingsolver

My Year of Meats Ruth Ozeki, 2011-11-04 I had started my year as a documentarian I wanted to tell the truth to effect change to make a difference And up to a point I had succeeded I am haunted by all the things big things and little things that threaten to slip through the cracks untold out of history In a single eye opening year two women worlds apart experience parallel awakenings As Jane Takagi Little researches the consumption of meat in the American home for Japanese docu soap My American Wife she begins to realise that her ruthless search for a story is deeply compromising her morals Meanwhile in Tokyo housewife Akiko Ueno is diligently preparing the recipes from Jane's programme struggling to please her husband and increasingly doubting her commitment to the life she has fallen into And as Jane and Akiko battle dangerously to assert their individuality My American Wife draws them together in a startling story of strength courage love and meat

My Year of Meats Ruth Ozeki, 2003-05-01 My Year of Meats Ruth L. Ozeki, 2007 When documentarian Jane Takagi Little finally lands a job producing My American Wife a Japanese television show sponsored by an American meat exporting business she discovers some unsavory truths about love fertility and a hormone called DES Meanwhile on the other side of the globe Akiko Ueno a beleaguered Japanese housewife struggles to escape from her child craving husband When Jane's and Akiko's lives intersect the deepest concerns of our time are illuminated how the past informs the present and how we live and love in an ever shrinking world

Literary Contexts in Novels: Ruth Ozeki's 'My Year of Meats' , Filthy Fictions Monica Chiu, 2004-01-20 Filthy Fictions addresses Asian American literature by women to explore and explode the sedimented and solidified meanings we have created about Asian Americans and dirt through dialogues that not only cross disciplinary and institutional formations and borders but also question the very borders and territories upon which these arguments may be founded Expertly questioning the construction of the ethnic body the book discusses critical discourses in ethnic and feminist studies around the topic of identity re production and transnational representation

Beyond Hostile Islands Daniel McKay, 2024-04-02 WINNER JAVIER COY BIENNIAL RESEARCH AWARD BEST MONOGRAPH Offers a fascinating window into how the fraught politics of apology in the East Asian region have been figured in anglophone literary fiction The Pacific War 1941-1945 was fought across the world's largest ocean and left a lasting imprint on anglophone literary history However studies of that imprint or of individual authors have focused on American literature without drawing connections to parallel traditions elsewhere Beyond Hostile Islands contributes to ongoing efforts by Australasian scholars to place their national cultures in conversation with those of the United States particularly regarding studies of the ideologies that legitimize warfare Consecutively the book examines five of the most significant historical and thematic areas associated with the war island combat economic competition internment imprisonment and the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki Throughout the central issue pivots around the question of how or whether at all New Zealand fiction writing differs from that of the United States Can a sense of islandness the tyranny of distance Mori cultural heritage or the political legacies of the nuclear free movement provide grounds for distinctive authorial insights As an opening gambit Beyond Hostile Islands puts forward the term ideological coproduction to describe how a territorially and demographically more minor national culture may accede to the essentials of a given ideology while differing in aspects that reflect historical and provincial dimensions that are important to it Appropriately the literary texts under examination are set in various locales including Japan the Solomon Islands New Zealand New Mexico Ontario and the Marshall Islands The book concludes in a deliberately open ended pose with the full expectation that literary writing on the Pacific War will grow in range and richness aided by the growth of Pacific Studies as a research area

The Art of Identification Rex Ferguson, Melissa M. Littlefield, James Purdon, 2021-09-06 Since the mid nineteenth century there has been a notable acceleration in the development of the techniques used to confirm identity From fingerprints to photographs to DNA we have been rapidly amassing novel means of identification even as personal individual identity remains a complex chimera The Art of Identification examines how such processes are entangled within a wider sphere of cultural identity formation Against the backdrop of an unstable modernity and the rapid rise and expansion of identificatory techniques this volume makes the case that identity and identification are mutually imbricated and that our best understanding of both concepts and technologies comes through the interdisciplinary analysis of science bureaucratic infrastructures and cultural artifacts With contributions from literary critics cultural historians scholars of film and new media a forensic anthropologist and a human bioarcheologist this book reflects upon the relationship between the bureaucratic scientific and technologically determined techniques of identification and the cultural contexts of art literature and screen media In doing so it opens the interpretive possibilities surrounding identification and pushes us to think about it as existing within a range of cultural influences that complicate the precise formulation meaning and reception of the concept In addition to the editors the contributors to this volume include Dorothy Butchard Patricia E Chu Jonathan Finn Rebecca Gowland Liv Hausken Matt Houlbrook Rob Lederer Andrew Mangham Victoria Stewart and Tim Thompson

The Olive Grove Patrice Newell, 2012-09-01 When Patrice Newell left a highly charged urban life to live in the country friends warned her she'd be bored in no time Fifteen years later she's doing more in a day than most of us do in a week And Elmswood is no ordinary property it's a biodynamic farm with beef cattle and olives The Olive Grove is a celebration of rural life from the disastrous to the comic It also has an eye on the bigger issues

localism versus globalism natural farming versus the use of chemicals the need to sustainability And in a nation where city dwellers own shares in huge anonymous agricorporations there are welcome reminders of the value of personal involvement Not to mention the odd cooking tip An intensely human story The Olive Grove is instructive insightful inspiring and full of commonsense At Elmswood where life is vigorous and never dull Patrice Newell proves that growing food can be as creative an act as cooking it
