(Chapter – 1) (Sexual Reproduction in Flowering Plants)

(Class – XII)

Question 1:

Name the parts of an angiosperm flower in which development of male and female gametophyte take place.

Answer 1:

The male gametophyte or the pollen grain develops inside the pollen chamber of the anther, whereas the female gametophyte (also known as the embryo sac) develops inside the nucellus of the ovule from the functional megaspore.

Question 2:

Differentiate between microsporogenesis and megasporogenesis. Which type of cell division occurs during these events? Name the structures formed at the end of these two events.

Answer 2:

|    | Microsporogenesis   | Megasporogenesis   |
|----|---|--|
| 1. | It is the process of the formation of microspore tetrads from a microspore mother cell through meiosis. | It is the process of the formation of the four megaspores from a megaspore mother cell in the region of the nucellus through meiosis |
| 2. | It occurs inside the pollen sac of the anther.  | It occurs inside the ovule.  |

Both events (microsporogenesis and megasporogenesis) involve the process of meiosis or reduction division which results in the formation of haploid gametes from the microspore and megaspore mother cells.

Microsporogenesis results in the formation of haploid microspores from a diploid microspore mother cell. On the other hand, megasporogenesis results in the formation of haploid megaspores from a diploid megaspore mother cell.

Question 3:

Arrange the following terms in the correct developmental sequence:

Pollen grain, sporogenous tissue, microspore tetrad, pollen mother cell, male gametes

Answer 3:

The correct development sequence is as follows:

Sporogenous tissue – pollen mother cell – microspore tetrad – Pollen grain – male gamete

During the development of microsporangium, each cell of the sporogenous tissue acts as a pollen mother cell and gives rise to a microspore tetrad, containing four haploid microspores by the process of meiosis (microsporogenesis). As the anther matures, these microspores dissociate and develop into pollen grains. The pollen grains mature and give rise to male gametes.

Question 4:

With a neat, labelled diagram, describe the parts of a typical angiosperm ovule.

Biology: How Life Works (Volume 1) James Morris,2013-01-04 Ordinarily textbooks are developed by first writing chapters then making decisions about art and images and finally once the book is complete assembling a test bank and ancillary media This process dramatically limits the integration across resources and reduces art media and assessments to ancillary material rather than essential resources for student learning Biology How Life Works is the first project to develop three pillars the text the visual program and the assessment at the same time All three pillars were developed in parallel to make sure that each idea is addressed in the most appropriate medium and to ensure authentic integration These three pillars are all tied to the same set of core concepts share a common language and use the same visual palette In this way the text visual program and assessments are integral parts of student learning rather than just accessories to the text
