Hopt,Felix Steffek,2018-12-13 Mediation provides an attractive alternative to resolving disputes through court proceedings Mediation promises just results in the interest of all parties concerned a reduction of the court caseload and cost savings for the parties involved as well as for the treasury The European Directive on Mediation has given mediation in Europe new momentum by establishing a common framework for cross border mediation Beyond Europe many states have tried in recent years to answer the question whether and if so how mediation should be regulated at a national and international level The aim of this book is to promote the understanding and discussion of regulatory issues by presenting comparative research on mediation It describes and analyses the law and practice of mediation in twenty two countries Europe is represented by chapters on mediation in Austria Bulgaria England France Germany Greece Hungary Ireland Italy the Netherlands Norway Poland Portugal and Spain The world beyond Europe is analysed in chapters on mediation in Australia Canada China Japan New Zealand Russia Switzerland and the USA Against this background further chapters on fundamental issues identify possible regulatory models and discuss central principles of mediation law and practice In particular the work considers harmonisation and diversity in the law of mediation as well as the economic and constitutional problems associated with privatising civil justice To the extent available empirical research is used as a point of reference in the critical analysis

How to Reduce Tire-pavement Noise, 2008
Better practices to improve surface properties and thus tire pavement noise are really about establishing a higher order of control over the texture and other surface properties It is not about designing or building innovative surfaces but rather the control of conventional texturing techniques There should be a renewed awareness of the impact that some of the subtle operational characteristics can have on the texture as constructed Predictable tire pavement noise levels are not about how the texture is imparted as much as they are about the recognition and management of the sources of variability Regarding the concrete noise levels have to do with the fact that the contractors are imparting texture into a material with inherent variability in both stiffness and plasticity Concrete changes from batch to batch and it changes within a batch The wind and the sun play a major role as does the timing of the concrete mixing transport placement and eventually the texturing and curing the latter being important for acoustical durability

The Organ Yearbook, 2008 Managing Coarse Woody Debris in Fire-adapted Southwestern Forests David Brewer, 2008 Fire adapted forested ecosystems in the Southwest evolved with a continual flux of downed woody material a structural component that is considered essential to a properly functioning forest ecosystem The creation and accumulation of downed woody material depends on forest type tree species stage of succession decay the amount of insect and disease activity climate fire return intervals windthrow and management activities In general more downed woody material accumulates in forests with long fire return intervals subalpine mixed conifer pinyon juniper woodlands than in forests with short fire return intervals such as ponderosa pine While early foresters saw downed woody material as waste a potential source of insect and disease problems or a wildfire hazard today's foresters and researchers have identified the large size component of downed woody material
