This is the most teacher friendly assessment textbook available. Measuring Teachers' Knowledge & Application of Classroom Assessment Concepts Craig A. Mertler, Cynthia Campbell, 2005 Assessing student performance is one of the most critical responsibilities of classroom teachers yet many teachers do not feel adequately prepared for this task. Teachers often believe that they need remediation or assistance in applying assessment concepts and techniques as well as making assessment related decisions. In an effort to measure teachers' assessment literacy, an instrument titled the Assessment Literacy Inventory (ALI) was developed and its psychometric properties evaluated. The ALI was designed to parallel existing Standards for Teacher Competence in the Educational Assessment of Students. A two stage pilot test of the instrument was conducted with 152 preservice teachers in Fall 2003 and 249 preservice teachers in the Spring 2004. Item analyses of the second stage pilot data revealed an overall instrument reliability KR20 of 0.74. Individual item analyses, i.e. item difficulties and item discriminations as well as other indices were examined. Recommendations for future research include content and construct validation of the ALI, both of which are currently being examined as well as an investigation of the appropriateness of the ALI as a measure of inservice teacher assessment literacy. Finally, the Assessment Literacy Inventory provides a practical mechanism for educators to measure assessment literacy. Considering the current state of high stakes accountability in education, the ALI could provide school districts an effective as well as efficient way to allocate resources for developing or otherwise selecting teacher professional development opportunities on the topic of classroom assessment. Appended is Sample Scenario and Selected Items from the Assessment Literacy Inventory (ALI). Contains 2 tables and 2 figures.
