Modernism and the Middle Passage Laura Winkiel, 2025-10-14 Modernism is typically thought of as focusing on the new and now, not looking backward at historical catastrophes. Yet in many surprising, often submerged ways, the transatlantic slave trade shaped the works of both Black and white writers. This book reveals how modernists turned to the Middle Passage and, in so doing, upended Western ideas about time and space, race, and gender, and the category of the human. Bringing together Afro-diasporic and Black studies scholarship, modernist aesthetics, and environmental studies, Laura Winkiel presents a new literary history of modernism from the perspective of the Atlantic and its role in slavery and colonization. She examines the works of African Caribbean, British, and US writers, including Joseph Conrad, William Faulkner, Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston, Claude McKay, Jean Rhys, Amos Tutuola, and Virginia Woolf, as well as later interlocutors such as Marlon James and Jamaica Kincaid. Paying particular attention to settings on shorelines, deltas, archipelagos, and the ocean, Winkiel argues that allusions to the slave trade make visible the exploitative structural relations between the metropolis and the colonies, and between the liberal subject and its others. By turning to the ocean and its violent histories, this groundbreaking book rethinks the fraught relationship of modernism and race.

Encyclopedia of the Harlem Renaissance: K-Y Cary D. Wintz, Paul Finkelman, 2004 A compilation of information on all aspects of this creative, dynamic period, the Harlem Renaissance.

Love's Virtues Mike W. Martin, 1996

This book brings together a sensitive understanding of love and an unusually careful even painstaking analysis of the enormous but often neglected role of morality and the virtues in love. Martin's discussions of such virtues as caring, courage, fidelity, and honesty are superb. The examples well chosen, the argument personal but nevertheless rigorous, the prose accessible and enjoyable to read.

Their Eyes Were Watching God - Analysis of the Main Conflicts and Some Metaphorical Images of the Novel Andreas Schwarz, 2012. Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2005 im Fachbereich Amerikanistik / Literatur, Freie Universität Berlin, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: Their Eyes Were Watching God is the story of a woman's life. Protagonist Janie recapitulates her way from youth to her forties and shows the growing up of a woman in the search for love. On the sidelines, Zora Neale Hurston points out the life of African American people and their problems on the turn of the twentieth century until the 1930s. The objective of this paper is to point out the main conflicts and metaphorical images used in the book. As the novel is to some extent a biography of a woman's way to love, the first to mention is the eternal conflict between men and women. Like a painter, Hurston draws the traditional roles of the sexes and the contradictions of her time, a time of feminine emancipation in all aspects. Emancipation also plays a role in the obvious generation conflict personated in Nanny, Janie's grandmother. Somehow incidental but flashing now and then and sharp in her observations, Hurston works up the racial issue of black and white living together in the American society around 60 years after slavery has officially ended. These are the more general conflicts of the book, while within the story opens the conflict within the black community. A subtle comparison of the life in Eatonville and the Everglades, inseparable of course from the totally differing feelings of Janie in both places. In the course of the novel, Hurston uses strong picturesque metaphorical language to describe the inner world of Janie's thoughts and feelings. This paper can only give a few examples for these images. The tree image stands for her love life and sexuality, first in bloom when she becomes a woman. The mule stands as a symbol for the submission of women through men.
